President Maps His Plans For Fall Campaign

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has laid out his path for the fall campaign along the high road of politics, stressing peace, prosperity, moderation and avoiding personal attacks on his Republican opponent, Barry Goldwater.

He said all this again Friday in a televised news conference.

But, at the same time Johnson just couldn't resist a chance to needle the Arizona senator on the role in the campaign of civil rights, civilian control over nuclear weapons and lawlessness in the streets.

The news conference covered a variety of topics. But it always returned to one subject—Johnson's campaign next fall against Barry Goldwater for the presidency.

Romney To Turn Earth For New State Buildings

LANSING (AP)—Gov. George W. Romney will turn the first shovel of earth to signal the start of a $35 million complex of state office buildings next Friday.

General contractors, Erickson and Lindstrom of Flint, will take over from the governor immediately and start excavations for a two-level underground parking garage and the footings of three of the four office buildings to be built in the four-block area immediately west of the State Capitol Building.

Count Reveals 621 Candidates For Legislature

LANSING (AP)—The nearest thing yet to an actual count shows 621 candidates entered in the scramble for seats in Michigan's legislature this year.

The result, when all the votes are in on Nov. 3, is certain to be the biggest single overhauling of the lawmaking body in state history, as far as anyone has been able to determine.

It has been predicted that as many as 40 per cent, and perhaps more, of the 110 House seats and the 38 Senate seats (which include four new ones) will be occupied by first-term members when the 73rd legislature convenes next January.

That, plus the fact that Democrats are predicting they will gain control of one House and possibly both—a point which Republicans don't dispute—has Capitol observers calling this election the most interesting in recent memory.

City Officials Declare State Of Emergency

ROCHESTER, N.Y. (AP)—Hundreds of young Negroes rioted fiercely through the night, in what one Negro leader said was a reaction against alleged police brutality, and state troopers moved in today as an uneasy quiet settled on this strife-torn city.

Hoffa Awaits Jury Verdict In Mail Fraud

CHICAGO (AP)—Teamsters President James R. Hoffa awaited today the verdict of a U.S. district court jury deciding whether he and six codefendants are guilty of mail fraud and conspiracy.

Hoffa, 51, was silent after the eight men and four women—one a last-minute replacement—took under consideration 13 weeks of testimony and mountains of documentary evidence Friday night.

The seven men are charged in a 21-count indictment with fraudulently obtaining more than $20 million from a Teamsters pension fund and diverting $1 million to personal use. There are 294 possible verdicts.

During the 13 weeks of trial a transcript of more than 16,000 pages was compiled, 114 government witnesses testified and 22 witnesses appeared for the defense.

The government built its case around Sun Valley, Inc., a home development for retired Teamsters near Orlando, Fla.

The prosecution contended the codefendants conspired to obtain loans from the pension fund to bail Hoffa out of a financial crisis.

The government charges that Hoffa had put $400,000 cash from his home local, 299 in Detroit, into the Florida National Bank in Orlando, which made a loan of $400,000 to Sun Valley.

When the project began to fail in 1958, the government said, the defendants conspired to obtain loans from the pension fund to bail out Sun Valley and retrieve Local 299's money.

Harlem Rioters Defy Ban; Claim Police Brutality

NEW YORK (AP)—A self-described Communist says he will lead an anti-police demonstration in Harlem today despite a ban on it by Police Commissioner Michael J. Murphy.

Murphy announced the ban at police headquarters Friday night while about 300 pickets marched outside chanting charges of police brutality.

He said he fears mass street meetings this weekend could touch off racial violence like the bloody rioting that started last weekend.

A swelling chorus of protests against the ban came from civil rights leaders, many of whom have been pleading for moderation in the crisis.

They demanded a meeting with Mayor Robert F. Wagner, urging him to rescind the ban and reprimand Murphy. However, they also opposed the planned demonstration.

William Epton, a Negro who says "I am a Communist," declared he would head the Harlem Defense Council in a march late today.

Murphy said he barred the demonstration "in view of the tragic and unfortunate events of the last five days to preserve and improve the uneasy peace which now prevails."

Negro leader Bayard Rustin said Murphy's order would result in "a disaster" and lead to "the most vicious kind of behavior."

The Rev. Richard A. Hildebrand of the New York City branch of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said the ban "will probably lead to more trouble than the meeting would have. We were just beginning to get this thing quieted down and now the police are stirring up trouble again," he said.

Asked if he expected "a rather rough campaign," Johnson replied: "Most campaigns are rough campaigns. I'm an old campaigner. I have been at it 30 years. One of the first things I learned, at least so far as I am concerned, is the people are not much interested in my personal opinion of my opponent."

Speaking only two hours before he met with Goldwater to discuss the racial question and other subjects, Johnson said, "I do not believe that any issue which is before the people can be eliminated from the campaign in a free society in an election year. After all, that is the purpose of elections, to discuss the issues."

Later, the two men met for 16 minutes and released a short statement saying they agreed "racial tensions should be avoided" in the campaign ahead.

Check Adopted On Conduct Of U.S. Senators

WASHINGTON (AP)—In a surprise sequel to the Bobby Baker case, the Senate has voted to set up a permanent bipartisan committee to investigate charges of improper or illegal conduct among its members and employees.

The proposal, offered by Sen. John Sherman Cooper, R-Ky., was adopted by a 61-19 vote Friday as an amendment to the Senate's rules.

Leaders of both parties were caught by surprise by this development. It left up in the air whether action now will be sought on a resolution to require senators and top Senate employees to disclose their major outside financial interests each year.

Democratic leader Mike Mansfield of Montana said Senate attorneys will study whether the resolution is needed or requires alteration in view of Friday's birth of an investigating committee.

Republican leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois, an outspoken foe of the disclosure resolution, expressed doubt that it would be necessary because of the broad powers conferred on the committee to investigate and recommend disciplinary action for misconduct it finds.

Establishment of the committee, to be composed of three Democrats and three Republicans, was the first action taken by the Senate in the aftermath of the investigation by the Senate Rules Committee of the Baker case.

Baker resigned under fire last fall from his $19,600-a-year post as secretary to the Senate's Democratic majority after questions were raised about his outside business interests. In a report earlier this month, the rules committee said he "guilty of many gross improprieties."

Wayne Has 412

The biggest part of the scramble, of course, will be in Wayne County, where 412 candidates filed nominating petitions for the Sept. 1 primary.

Included are 84 Democrats and 31 Republicans seeking the 14 Senate seats contained wholly within the county, and 227 Democrats and 70 Republicans jousting in 37 House districts.

But names and faces will do more than just numbers to make the election interesting. As examples:

Sen. Basil Brown, D-Detroit, the only Negro member of the Senate, faces three other people named Brown—Charles E. and Willie—in the Sept. 1 primary, but his most serious challenge

Lawmakers Move

Rep. John Fitzpatrick, D-Detroit, will be opposed in the primary by his wife, among others, while Rep. John Penczak seeks to defeat his father in the primary.

The strategy worked when the attorney general's office ruled that under state law, the similarity of names would entitle Fitzpatrick to the "incumbency" designation on the ballot. The rule presumably applies also to Penczak.

Another family combination will be on the ballot but this time in different districts. Holden Cook of Ionia is a Democratic contender in the 89th District (Kent, Ionia and Barry counties) while his son, Douglas is a Democratic candidate in an Ingham County district.

Don Pears, a former speaker of the House, seeks to return to the chamber as one of three Republicans in the primary for the 43rd District, in southwestern Michigan.

Some lawmakers moved their residences in order to have a better chance—or a chance at all—of re-election.

One of these was Rep. Carroll Newton, R-Detroit, who moved to Charlotte and then found his residence qualification under challenge from another primary contender. A decision on Newton's eligibility must be made by elections officials.

Over 80 Injured

More than 80 persons were injured—most of them Negroes—a few of them seriously, and about 80 were arrested. The injured included nine policemen and a fireman.

Some whites joined in the melee, triggered by a police attempt late Friday night to arrest a young Negro at a street dance. The dance was in a predominantly Negro neighborhood on the fringe of the downtown shopping district and just a few blocks east of the Eastman Kodak plant.

Police said the unidentified young man had become drunk and disorderly. But, when they tried to put him in a patrol car, several other young Negroes intervened and a battle developed. The police radioed for reinforcements, and the riot erupted in full force.

Some whites joined in the melee. Apparently some tried to aid the police and others were swept into the riot as bystanders.

Romanian Leader Goes To Paris To Boost Trade

VIENNA, Austria (AP)—Premier Ion-Gheorghe Maurer of Romania, apparently undaunted by a Kremlin showdown over his country's independent course, goes to Paris on Sunday to explore prospects for an open-door policy toward the government of President Charles de Gaulle.

Maurer's meetings with Premier Georges Pompidou, and presumably with De Gaulle himself, are expected to increase French economic influence in Romania through the sale of skill and hardware.

The visit is a clear break with Communist tradition, which hitherto kept most East European government chiefs behind the Iron Curtain and reserved the privileges of Western travel to the Kremlin hierarchy. It probably has no more than reluctant approval from Soviet premier Khrushchev.

The strong-willed Romanian leader, second in command after the president and party chief Gheorghe Gheorghiu-Dej, put his policies to a test in Moscow last week in bargaining with Khrushchev. He emerged apparently holding more trump cards than ever before.

Reports here and in Moscow said Maurer persuaded Khrushchev to stop trying to force Romania into stringent East bloc integration patterns and a pro-Kremlin front against Communism.

Khrushchev may have decided to heed the danger signals which Stalin ignored in 1948 when Yugoslavia broke away from the Soviet camp. The signals came through, loud and clear, when the Romanians told Moscow that their Communist party is as Sovereign as the Soviet party and that any attempt of Soviet pressure would be regarded as interference in Romania's affairs.

In May, a Romanian mission negotiated a trade agreement with the United States and obtained credits for U.S. products and services. Italian, Belgian, British, Austrian and Scandinavian firms are competing for contracts in ambitious projects to develop Romania's steel, machinery and chemical industries.

Opposed To Violence

Johnson, at the news conference, told reporters: "No word or deed of mine, that I am aware of, has ever—or I hope will ever—lent any aid or any comfort to this small minority who would take the law into their own hands."

"If Sen. Goldwater and his advisers, and his followers, will follow the same course that I intend to follow, which is a course of rebuffing and rebuking bigots and those who seek to excite and exploit tensions, then it will be most welcome."

Asked about Goldwater's suggestion that at least the North Atlantic Treaty Organization commander should be given more authority in the use of nuclear weapons, Johnson said this was the president's responsibility.

"The control of the nuclear weapons is one of the most solemn responsibilities of the president of the United States—the man who is president can never get away from that responsibility and can never forget it," Johnson said.

"The American people rely on his good judgment. They want that authority vested in a civilian. They do not expect to abandon this duty to military men in the field," he added.

Bad For Police

CHICAGO (AP)—It just wasn't the right sort of day Friday for the Chicago police force.

Someone made off with a siren from an unmarked squad car and about $200 was taken from a police academy coin-changing machine.

It would also let widows start receiving benefits at age 60 instead of 62, and extend coverage to self-employed physicians and interns.

The bill also provides a rate increase which would up the Social Security tax from the present 5.8 per cent each on employers and employees to 3.8 per cent on Jan. 1 with peak of 4.8 per cent after Jan. 1, 1971. The amount of earnings subject to the tax would be raised from $4,800 to $5,400.

"The net effect of the bill is to improve the actuarial soundness of the program," the committee said.

As of May 31, the two Social Security trust funds had assets of more than $22 billion. During May, 19.4 million persons received payments totaling $1.2 billion.

Though receipts to each fund were less than expenditures from each during the year ended June 30, 1963, it was estimated that by June 30, 1968 the old age trust fund would increase to $25.2 billion and the disability trust fund would decrease to $1.2 billion, indicating the need for the reallocation proposed in the bill.

The committee said that, under its bill, it was estimated that after 1965 and for the next 20 years income for the old age fund would exceed disbursements and with the aid of interest the balance would exceed $120 billion by the end of this century.

Social Security Benefits Boosted By House Bill

WASHINGTON (AP)—A bill to increase Social Security benefits and raise the tax used to support them would improve the long range financial status of the program, the House Ways and Means Committee reports.

The legislation, which comes up for House consideration Wednesday, would provide an across-the-board increase in benefits of 5 per cent, liberalize eligibility provisions for 600,000 elderly persons and continue child's survivors benefits to age 22, instead of cutting them off at 18.

It would also let widows start receiving benefits at age 60 instead of 62, and extend coverage to self-employed physicians and interns.

The bill also provides a rate increase which would up the Social Security tax from the present

Troopers Arrive

A reporter said gangs of white teenagers took advantage of the confusion to join in the looting.

Violence spread quickly through the neighborhood, about two miles square, bounded by Clinton Avenue on the west, Kelly Street on the north, Hudson Avenue on the east and Central Avenue on the south.

An estimated 500 Negroes plunged into the battle. Police sealed off the area and employed tear gas, nightsticks and fire hoses to quell the rioters.

The first detachment of about 100 troopers arrived on the scene this morning, a few hours after City Manager Porter W. Hoyer declared a state of emergency. The troopers marched four abreast up Joseph

Union Dispute Shooting Fatal

DETROIT (AP)—One man was shot and killed and two others were wounded in a dispute at a union headquarters Friday.

The dispute reportedly concerned jobs at Great Lakes Steel Corp. It took place at Laborers Local 334. Three union men were held for investigation.

Samuel Little Jr., 27, was killed. He was shot in the chest, neck and left arm.

Police said that J. D. Landrum, 41, Great Lakes blast furnace foreman and business agent for the union, admitted firing at Little after the latter pulled a gun and threatened him.

At least six shots were fired, police said.

Andrew McFarlane, president of the local, was among a dozen witnesses. The local has a history of strife. Landrum is on parole in the 1961 stabbing of Adam White, former local president.

McFarlane said Little and about 50 other unemployed union members appeared at headquarters demanding jobs and charging that nonunion men were getting work at the expense of union men.

The union president said he summoned Landrum from work and consulted with him in a private office.

Little and the others burst into the office, McFarlane said, and the shooting followed.

Johnson And Goldwater To Avoid Race Tensions

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Johnson has declared the civil rights issue will be on his agenda in the campaign ahead, but agreed with Republican presidential nominee Barry Goldwater "that racial tensions should be avoided" as they battle for the White House.

The Arizona senator and the President he hopes to oust sat down together for 16 minutes Friday night to talk about civil rights and the campaign. They touched on some other subjects, as well, it was learned.

Johnson had his say in advance, at a nationally televised news conference. He invited Goldwater, his advisers and followers to take what he said will be the Democratic party's course—"rebuffing and rebuking bigots and those who seek to excite and exploit tensions."

Goldwater said Thursday night he would seek with Johnson to elect a course aimed at avoiding "any inflating of trouble" over civil rights.

The only public result of the Johnson-Goldwater talk? A brief statement read to newsmen by White House Press Secretary George Reedy. A Goldwater spokesman said the senator had approved it in advance.

"The president met with Sen. Goldwater and reviewed the steps he had taken to avoid the incitement of racial tensions," Reedy said. "Sen. Goldwater expressed his position, which was that racial tensions should be avoided. Both agreed on this position."

Sources close to Goldwater said the senator thought the meeting "was worth it. He said what he had on his mind."

Earlier, Johnson used a news conference to answer Goldwater's call for an effort to keep civil rights tension "a completely quiet question" during the campaign.

Goldwater has said he knows the broad question of civil rights will be on the campaign agenda.

Johnson put it this way: "I do not believe that any issue which is before the people can be eliminated from the campaign in a free society in an election year." He said it is the purpose of elections to discuss the issues.

After spelling out his stand, Johnson declared "to the extent that Sen. Goldwater differs from these views, or the Republican party differs, there will, of course, be discussion."

"I intend to carry on some of it if I am a candidate," he said.

Nation Promised Cooler Week End

By The Associated Press

A big bundle of cold air edged eastward from the Central Plains today, bringing promise of a cooler weekend for much of the nation.

The cold front, which stretched from the Great Lakes area to the southern Rocky Mountains, replaced warm air along its path with cooler temperatures and less sticky conditions.

The Weather Bureau said that Chicago, which has sweltered in 90-degree heat for five straight days, would have a mild weekend. Continued warm to hot conditions were expected, however, in the South.

Mother Kills 4 Children With Plastic Sacks

DAYTON, Ohio (AP)—Four children ranging in age from 10 months to 6 years were found dead in their beds early this morning, and police said their mother admitted killing them.

Police were called to the home of Mrs. Betty Perry, 27, after she reportedly told a neighbor she had killed her children. The youngsters, Stacey, 10 months; Carl 3; Scott, 4, and Susan, 6, were found dead with plastic bags tied over their heads.

Police said Mrs. Perry told them she killed the children because she was despondent over money problems and a pending divorce.

Authorities said their preliminary investigation showed that the plastic bags had been tied over the children's heads while they slept.

Raccoon Walks In And Bites Woman

YAKIMA, Wash. (AP)—A raccoon walked into a house south of here Friday night and bit a woman severely on the arm.

Mrs. Claire Waarvick of Wapato was treated at a hospital and released.

Mrs. Waarvick was seated at a table when the animal entered through an open door, jumped onto her and bit her. The woman ran out a door and the raccoon pursued her, witnesses said. Her husband kicked the animal as it passed him, momentarily stunning it. But the raccoon recovered and ran off.

Mrs. Dennis Dies At Newberry

NEWBERRY — Mrs. Ellen N. Dennis, 66, of Rte. 1, Newberry, a well-known member of the community, died Friday at 12:35 p.m. in the Tahquamenon General Hospital where she had been a patient since July 10.

Mrs. Dennis was born April 27, 1898 in Menominee and was a 1919 graduate of Newberry State Hospital Training School for nurses. She married Dr. Earl Dennis in 1919 and he preceded her in death in 1923.

Mrs. Dennis was in charge of the Ferguson Receiving Hospital in Newberry from the time it opened until her retirement in 1961.

Survivors include: a sister, Mrs. Jennie Hodson, Grand Blanc; a brother, Norman Nelson of Flint; and several nieces and nephews.

Friends may call at the Beaulieu Funeral Home from 7 to 9 p.m. today and from 2 to 9 p.m. Sunday. Funeral services will be held at the Messiah Lutheran Church in Newberry at 10 a.m. Monday with Rev. Fred Olson and Pastor Charles Beckingham officiating. Burial will be in Fernwood Cemetery.

Wandering Lady Digs Up $21,300

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP)—Police found an elderly woman wandering the streets Friday and took her to a hospital.

"Do you have more than $5 in your possession?" the admitting clerk asked. "If so, we'll have to put it in the hospital safe."

"Yes, a little," the woman replied.

After an hour of counting, $21,300 was placed in the safe.

Voters To Get Blanket Ballot

In many counties of Michigan the paper ballots for the Sept. 1 primary will be about the size of a bed sheet, while spaces on voting machines will be crowded for both the primary election Sept. 1 and the general election on Nov. 3.

The pressures will not be as great in Escanaba city and in Delta County as in some other sections of Michigan.

For example, in Detroit alone there will have to be some 59 different ballots for the state primary. Some Detroit ballots will be printed for just one precinct — two or three blocks

Florida Klan Band Arrested

ST. AUGUSTINE, Fla. (AP)—Five men identified as Ku Klux Klansmen have been charged with cross-burning as a state attorney vowed to "vigorously pursue law breakers until peace returns" to embattled St. Augustine.

Florida State Attorney Dan Warren said he would swear out additional warrants today charging several persons with fostering violence.

He obtained five warrants Friday naming the alleged Klansmen, including two from out of state, with burning a cross on private property without permission.

The charges were the first against Klan leaders since racial violence broke out two months ago.

Friday morning a fire bomb exploded in the empty dining room of a motor lodge, whose owner had agreed at one time to integrate but then refused when white segregationists began picketing.

Besides massive melees that broke out when Negroes marched in the city's streets and tried to swim on white beaches, there have been many small incidents. Whites have attacked small groups of Negroes repeatedly and on occasion chased them through the streets in automobiles.

square — and some must be prepared for just a part of a precinct.

Escanaba City Clerk Don Guindon said the voting machines have plenty of spaces for the elections here without crowding.

On the primary ballot will be the names of party candidates.

Register Now

The last day for voters to register for the Sept. 1 primary election is Monday, Aug. 3. Escanaba City Clerk Don Guindon reminded voters to register before that date — as soon as possible, in fact. On the registration date the office of the clerk in the City Hall will be open to 8 p.m.

dates seeking nomination for state legislative, and county offices including the non-partisan judge of probate. While there are several contests for legislative posts, there are no nominations contests for Delta County offices.

Nations Crack Down On Cuba

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Inter-American foreign ministers conference was expected to slap diplomatic and trade sanctions on Cuba today and warn the Fidel Castro regime it faces a possible armed attack if it continues subversive aggression.

The action was contained in a resolution that was expected to win the support of 15 countries.

The United States will go along with any measure aimed at tightening the isolation of the Castro regime.

The resolution, still subject to change at a closed-door meeting today, condemns Cuba for its subversive efforts to overthrow the government of Venezuela and resolves that the governments of the American states:

1. Will not maintain diplomatic or consular relations with Cuba;
2. Will interrupt all trade, direct or indirect, with Cuba, with the exception of foodstuffs, medicines and medical equipment;
3. Will interrupt all air and maritime transport with Cuba with the exception of transport necessary for humanitarian and emergency purposes.

Silent World Speech Topic

Stahl Butler of the Michigan Association for Better Hearing will speak to the Escanaba Rotary Club at its meeting to be held Tuesday noon at the House of Ludington. He will discuss "The Language of the Silent World."

Supported by the Michigan United Fund, the Michigan Association for Better Hearing has a state-wide program for the prevention of deafness and the rehabilitation of the deaf and the hard-of-hearing. Arrangements for Butler's appearance here were made by Don Yost, chairman of the Rotary Club's program committee.

Born in Kansas, Butler attended school in Idaho, was trained to be a teacher of the deaf at Gallaudet College, Washington, D. C., the only college for the deaf in the world.

In 40 years with the deaf and hard-of-hearing, Butler taught the deaf in five states and the District of Columbia. Here in Michigan he was principal of the Michigan School for the Deaf in Flint, and supervisor, deaf and hard-of-hearing, state Division of Vocational Rehabilitation, Lansing.

Butler will explain the services of the Association, answer questions, tell of experiences with the deaf and hard-of-hearing, and end with a demonstration of the sign language of the deaf.

Workers Hang Effigy Of UAW

HARTWELL, Ga. (AP)—The United Auto Workers Union was hanged in effigy on the city square Friday after workers at the Monroe Auto Parts plant rejected it as bargaining agent.

Several pistol shots were fired into a crudely fashioned figure suspended from a tree limb and bearing a placard with the wording:

"Notice to all. Here hangs UAW, caught trying to steal jobs from Monroe employees."

The representation election was held Thursday after a heat-18-month organizing campaign which drew the opposition of a citizens committee on the ground that the future of the plant might be jeopardized.

A National Labor Relations Board official conducting the election, Scott Watson of Atlanta, announced the vote as 147 for and 466 against the union with nine ballots challenged and seven voided.

In its anti-union campaign, the citizens committee, headed by Tommy Myers, an automobile dealer, made reference to the closing of a Monroe plant at Hillsdale, Mich., in 1960 after labor trouble.

Teeter-Totter Marathon Runs For 101 Hours

VENTURA, Calif. (AP)—David Williams teetered and Pat McCook tottered as they walked away Friday from a teeter-totter where they had spent the past 101 hours going up and down.

"It feels like we're still going," said David, with a little rest in his voice.

The 13-year-olds surpassed a 100-hour stint by two students in 1951 at College of the Pacific, and claimed the world seesaw record.

The boys laid claim to no great strategy in plotting their up and down course.

As one observer said: "It sort of looked like they did the whole thing by the seat of their pants."

Mrs. Eva Wanic Of Perronville Taken By Death

Mrs. Eva Wanic, 82, longtime Perronville resident, died Friday at 2:30 p.m. at the Pinecrest Medicare Facility in Powers where she had resided for the past several years.

Mrs. Wanic was born June 18, 1882, in Poland and came to the United States in 1900 to Chicago. In 1907 she moved to LaMonte, Ill., where she met and married her late husband John, who died in 1942. The couple moved to Perronville in 1909. She was a member of St. Michael's Church and of the Rosary and Altar Society and Polish Alma Mater.

Included among the survivors are: five daughters, Mrs. Michael (Mary) Jaskiewicz, Mrs. Charles (Mildred) Ellis, and Mrs. Ellis (Veronica) Dickey, all of Chicago; Mrs. Conrad (Sophie) Lewis, Fairbanks, Alaska and Mrs. William (Victoria) Hanf, Columbus, Ohio; four sons, Joseph and John, Chicago; Louis, Perronville and Charles, Bark River; 31 grandchildren and 11 great-grandchildren.

Friends may call at the Boyle Funeral Home after 2 p.m. Sunday where the rosary will be recited at 8 that evening. A solemn requiem high mass will be said Monday at 10 a.m. in St. Michael's Church with Rev. Raymond Smith as celebrant. Burial will be in St. Michael's Cemetery.

Dallas Man Shot; Motorists Ignore Pleas For Help

DALLAS (AP) — Shot three times, Dean O. Campbell, 21, lay under a street light near a busy northside intersection for almost 30 minutes Thursday night while passing motorists ignored his pleas for help, police said.

Detective W. E. Chambers said Campbell was finally aided by the wife of a Dallas fireman, Mrs. Earl C. Bills, who told of attempting vainly to get other drivers to help with the wounded youth.

Defense Outlay Bill Calls For 46.7 Billion

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate Appropriations Committee has recommended an outlay of $46.7 billion for defense for the fiscal year which began July 1. The Senate probably will consider the bill sometime next week. It accounts for almost half of all federal expenditures.

The bill calls for $15 million more than voted by the House. But it is $896 million below President Johnson's budget requests.

British Teeners Oust Musicians

BLACKPOOL, England (AP)—The Rolling Stones, a group of beat musicians, fled from a dance hall stage Friday night as youthful rioters wrecked their instruments and battled police called to quell the disturbance.

The outbreak flared when one of the long-haired group aimed a kick at a youth who tried to clamber onto the stage.

The cheers of 7,000 youngsters turned to boos and the musicians fled as irate teenagers swarmed the stage.

Drops Into Mine

WASHBURN, N.D. (AP)—Robert Ingelhart discovered a coal mine the hard way.

He was plowing when he and his tractor dropped 10 feet into an abandoned mine tunnel. Ingelhart escaped injury but had quite a time extracting his tractor.

Shrimp, Scones As Scouts Cook

By BEN HELMER

Fifty-two thousand Boy Scouts will be leaving the Jamboree on Friday and Saturday after participating in one of scouting's major events; the sixth National Jamboree which has been held at Valley Forge, Penn., July 17 through the 23rd. Here, scouts have shared experiences and learned customs and ways of living from scouts of the 50 states and 42 foreign countries.

Friday night marked the end of the Jamboree. A highlight of the closing was a visit from President Johnson. He has been most willing to visit us in the traditions of many Presidents before him.

As the week closes scouts are making lasting friendships and exchanging addresses. Many are taking in the historical places of interest here in the Valley. Perhaps the best attended doings are found at the Skill-O-Rama areas where scouts of national and international troops show off their skill in cooking and campcraft. Many scouts were pleased to find the food cooked is free for sampling. I had some shrimp from Florida and a jellied scone from Scotland.

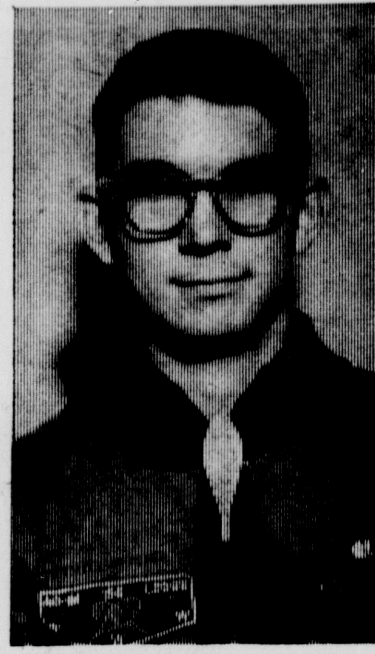

I have asked several scouts what amazed them most. A scout from Idaho said he'd never been in a city of more than 10,000 people until he came to the East. He was amazed by the organization of the tent city. This city has its own hospital manned by the Army, a switchboard manned fully by 75 Bell Telephone employees, a newspaper, a radio station, and even a weather station for which we can thank the Explorers from Falls Church, Va.

A scout here has had many things to do besides sightseeing. The Jamboree Committee set up a Jamboree Adventure Award. Requirements include meeting at least 20 scouts from other regions and obtaining their addresses. Also, a scout must complete one of the obstacle courses successfully as well as participate in a Skill-O-Rama show and visit the many exhibits in conservation, forestry, safety and public service.

Many scouts have earned this award. At the present the names are not released but all of our scouts from Escanaba have worked on the award.

A great event in the life of 52,000 scouts is ending. Soon this city will have again dwindled to the peaceful valley that it was when Washington and the Continental Army were encamped here.

Without the help of two of our service clubs to act as partial sponsors, three Delta scouts might not have attended the Jamboree. Rotary International helped sponsor Scouts Tom Jones and Fred Gravelle. Kiwanis International made it possible for me to attend this Jamboree. We say thank you to these two fine service organizations that have an interest in helping young people.

I add my thanks to the Escanaba Daily Press, which took an interest in our activities at the Jamboree. I wish all of the Scouts could have been with us.

Pedersen Will Retire From County Board

Peder Pedersen, supervisor of Bay de Noc Township and member of the Delta County Board of Supervisors for 15 years, is not a candidate for reelection.

Pedersen had served Bay de Noc Township as clerk and in other offices over a period of years prior to his election as supervisor in April, 1949.

Another veteran officer of the Bay de Noc Township board is William Sitar, who is retiring as trustee.

The slate of candidates for the Bay de Noc Township election, all unopposed, are:

Wallace Thorsen for supervisor, Mrs. Lois Leadman for treasurer, Mrs. Pearl Larson for clerk, Orville Pedersen for trustee, and Victor Thorsen for constable.

Mrs. Leadman has served as treasurer by appointment since July 1 to fill a vacancy; Mrs. Larson is seeking a second term as clerk; and Bernard Mattson, incumbent, is not a candidate for constable.

4-H Projects Aid Community

By LARRY BRADFORD
To improve the communities in which they live and at the same time become better citizens with a pride in their community, several Delta County 4-H Clubs have launched community projects. Community Clubs in the area of Rock, Ensign, Hyde and the City of Gladstone, are all working on such projects.

In the Ford River area the Hyde Kings and Queens have taken over the care and maintenance of a local cemetery. To date they have planted flowers, pulled weeds, cut grass around fences and graves and have assigned members to assure that the flowers will be well watered and cared for throughout the summer.

In addition the members have purchased material and made curtains for the newly erected Township Hall.

In the Rock area the club members have planted flowers on the boulevard on Main St. and have obtained and painted trash barrels for distribution, along the Main street of Rock.

Club members from the Ensign area have taken it upon themselves to landscape and beautify the grounds around the Ensign Town Hall. Early this spring pine trees were obtained from the conservation and forestry departments and planted on the grounds. Later a work bee of 4-H members cut grass, hauled loads of trash and debris from the area, and hauled in top soil to make a large circular flower bed on the front yard.

Future plans call for more land clearing, the construction of a barbecue grill and a gravelled parking lot. This project has appealed to adults in the area with painting of the hall being done and promises of a new front sidewalk.

In Gladstone the newly organized Community Club got right into the act by asking the city fathers where they might help the community. All fingers pointed to the newly established Wilderness Park. The first step the 4-H members did was to rid the area of the loads of sticks, bottles and other trash.

The members then obtained and rooted weeping willow stock for planting along the treeless beach area. Plans for the future call for more planting of shade trees in the camping and picnic areas.

These 4-H members are now taking an active interest in the community in which they live, assuring us their community will always be an enjoyable place and will have interested people to keep them that way.

LaMarche Put On Probation

Two Escanaba men were arraigned Friday afternoon in a special session of Delta County Circuit Court in Marquette before Judge Bernard Davidson.

Milton R. LaMarche, 39, Escanaba, pleaded guilty to a charge of imbezzlement of funds from his employer, Claude T. Tobin, Greyhound Lines agent. LaMarche was arrested July 16 on a complaint signed by Tobin.

LaMarche was put on five years probation and was ordered to pay $100 a month in restitution beginning Sept. 1. The amount of restitution has been left open because the exact amount taken has not yet been determined by auditors.

Leonard Couillard pleaded guilty to a charge of non-payment of alimony and was ordered to pay $40 per month to his family and $10 a month for arrears that he owes. He was also placed on probation.

Two Men Killed As Auto Strikes Tractor Mower

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP)—The son of a Toledo industrialist and another young man riding a tractor-type lawn mower in an exclusive residential area today were killed when an automobile rounded a curve and struck the mower.

James Bond DeVilbiss, 24, son of Howard P. DeVilbiss, president of DeVilbiss Co., and his friend, James Randall Moore, 26, of Birmingham, Mich., were killed.

Police said the two young men were riding the mower near the DeVilbiss home in Sylvania Township when it was struck by a car driven by Gerald M. Crosek, 28, Toledo. Crosek told police he rounded the curve and saw the mower too late to avoid hitting it.

Bennett Goes To Roscommon

Owen J. Bennett, a native of Marquette, has been named regional law and fire supervisor at Roscommon for the Michigan Department of Conservation.

The announcement was made today by Troy Yoder, Roscommon, regional manager for the department.

Bennett, who now is district law and fire supervisor at Newberry, will assume his new post on Aug. 9. He will succeed Harold Treat, who retired last January.

As district supervisor, Bennett now is in charge of law enforcement and fire control in Luce, Mackinac, Chippewa and Schoolcraft Counties and the east half of Alger. In his new capacity, he will be in charge of law enforcement and fire control in 34 counties in the northern Lower Peninsula.

A graduate of Graveret High School, Bennett served in the U.S. Air Force from 1940 to 1945 as a flight engineer. Following his discharge from the armed forces, he operated a resort at Kawbawgam Lake east of Marquette for one year before joining the conservation department on Aug. 1, 1947.

His first assignment was as a conservation officer at Norway. He remained there until he was promoted to assistant district field administration supervisor at Escanaba in 1954. He became district supervisor at Newberry last April 5.

Bennett is married to the former Betty Bell of Marquette. They have one daughter, Kathleen.

Muskegon Hosts State Pageant, Opening Monday

MUSKEGON (AP)—The biggest Miss Michigan Pageant in the 43-year history of the state Miss America preliminaries opens here Monday with a giant parade built around 50 young title hopefuls from as many Michigan communities.

The all-time record field features entrants from all sections of the state, and the greatest variety of talent ever assembled in the annual run for the queen's tiara and the chance to represent Michigan in the Miss America competition in Atlantic City.

Sixteen of the communities represented are entirely new to the pageant.

The pageant opens with the first of three nights of preliminary competition on Tuesday in the Walker Sports Arena. The field will be cut on successive nights of judging on talent, beauty, poise, charm and carriage, and narrowed to 10 semi-finalists for Friday's final round.

The finals will be telecast from 9:30 to 11 p.m. through stations in Detroit, Lansing, Grand Rapids, Flint-Saginaw, Bay City, Traverse City and Cheboygan. The finals telecast is the first on a state-wide hookup.

The field this year features a high percentage of blondes, reversing a trend in recent years to brunettes and brownettes, and the statistical composite of the contestants runs very close to the average for all Miss Americans from 1921 to today.

Nancy Anne Fleming of Montague, Miss America of 1960, now Mrs. William F. Johnson, of Okemos, will be here as parade marshal and mistress of ceremonies for the pageant, and the reigning Miss America, Donna Axum, and Kathleen McLaughlin, Miss Michigan of 1963, will be here for all four days of the competition.

A special guest will be Jan Somers, Miss Michigan of 1954, who was a finalist and runner-up in the Miss America pageant of that year. The new state queen will receive a $1,000 educational scholarship, $1,000 wardrobe, a $500 fashion award, $500 jewel chest, and many merchandise and other prizes.

There will be trophies and cash awards for preliminary night talent winners, trophies for winners in swimsuit competition, trophies and scholarship awards for the four runnersup to the titlist, and a pedigreed puppy for the winner of the "Miss Congeniality" title.

Hearing On Gas

The Michigan Public Service Commission has set Sept. 14 for a hearing on the application of the Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. to serve the lower part of the Upper Peninsula from Gladstone-Escanaba to Iron River with natural gas.

The commission held two days of hearings on the Mich Con application and heard requests from U.P. communities to expedite action on the application so the line can be built in 1965. It also heard requests from Northern Natural Gas Co., which has asked the Federal Power Commission for a permit to build a natural gas pipeline in the Upper Peninsula, from its distribution ally, Michigan Gas & Electric Co. and from U.P. coal and oil fuel dealers to grant them time to prepare cross examination of Mich Con and prepare their own presentations. They suggested that state action should wait on action by the Federal Power Commission.

Mich Con, playing its hand as though it was full of aces, said it, too, would file with FPC for a permit to serve the U.P. The see-saw between Mich Con and Northern Natural results because the latter had proposed to serve the lower U.P. area that's now in Mich Con's sights. Mich Con made the first home run of the game by signing Hanna Mining Co. as a customer at its big Groveland Mine.

The Upper Peninsula has been debating natural gas service ineffectively for 10 years while the gas pipeline companies battled before the regulatory agencies. Back in the administration of Gov. G. Mennen Williams his State Public Service Commission took a hands-off attitude on gas service to the U.P. when Mich Con and Michigan Gas & Electric Co. both proposed to build a pipeline north from Menominee to serve the central U.P.

The state said, in effect: Federal Power Commission, you decide. FPC did. It told MG&E to build the line and set forth the terms of permission and rates. MG&E sued for a better deal: was defeated, built no pipeline. There is considerable fear on the Menominee Range that another styxie may result from the current contest between utilities seeking the U.P. market.

If faulty government utility regulation again balks introduction of this fuel for the Peninsula there will be a despairing feeling that the World Court of Justice should take jurisdiction, because our state and federal agencies are incapable of defining the public interest when big utilities clamor.

Pecking Order

Despite all the criticism the U.S. Supreme Court brings down upon itself because of its decisions, a job on the high bench still ranks first in prestige over at least 90 other professions.

A study by the National Opinion Research Center reveals that 77 per cent of people questioned considered Supreme Court justice an excellent job; 18 per cent ranked it as good.

It has slipped in its rating, however, during the past 15 years. In a similar survey made in 1947, 83 per cent ranked it as the best, 15 per cent as good.

Greatest gain was made by nuclear physicists, who jumped from 18th place in 1947 to 3rd place in 1963. Physicians placed second in both years.

The profession which dropped the most in prestige was that of banker—from 10th to 24th. (The poll takers ventured no explanation.)

A different survey, based not on prestige but on salary, offers an interesting comparison.

Conducted by the National Education Association, it found that schoolteachers, while making faster salary gains than any other group over the past decade, still ranked far down on the list—15th out of a group of 18.

They barely edged out librarians, clergymen and dietitians.

Public schoolteachers will earn a national average of $5,963 this year, a rise of $231 over 1962-63.

Nevertheless, college graduates going into teaching, says the NEA, can expect to receive a starting wage (4,700) that is at least $1,000 less than that for any other profession.

Finding The Way

Bard Speaks For Our Time

By RALPH W. LOEW D. N.

A recent trip to Stratford in Ontario underscores the enduring miracle of Shakespeare.

In a time when the problems of the aging constitute political and social controversy and the dealing with suffering adds new accents to an ancient question, the tragedy of Lear speaks with relevance. After 400 years, this play, with its Gothic proportions, provides the area for discussion, dramatizing the ancient and ever-present problem. The characters are boldly etched, unrelentingly marching toward their destiny with only Lear finding a transforming and redeeming quality.

In our own time such artists as the late Albert Camus, or the Korean author Kim, or the motion picture producer Bergman restate these themes. Most of us find them harsh; for we have been accustomed to the happy ending.

Somehow, the hero of the Western drama needs to ride triumphant into the sunset while the villain languishes in exile or in jail. Yet every day renews the tragedy.

A man gives his life in a great idealism and loses his life. A citizen, filled with talent and ability, becomes his own worst enemy and stands in his own light. Generations stand opposed to each other, each unwilling to understand or communicate.

So the tragedies of jealousy, ambition, ingratitude and prejudice are spun out. This writing is "of imagination all compact." We need to take these long, hard looks at life. There are enormous problems of life and death, illness and health, happiness and despair. Such questions we duck and dodge. All too often we leave them unanswered, and find no faith to sustain us in the time of doubts.

We're like a gentle lady who once lived nearby. She found herself amazingly interested in the wrestling matches. She'd watch this ridiculous fantasy, but sometimes it became too much for her gentle spirit. So she'd hold her hands in front of her face if it got to be too much. She didn't turn the set off. She didn't look when it got to be too rough.

There are too many of us who hide behind our own hands so that we miss the misery, the unanswered griefs, the tragedies of life. So we have no faith to sustain us in the testing moments. There is no way to forget.

This seems to be the time when "wisdom and goodness to the vile seem vile. . . . Humanity must perform prey on itself like monsters of the deep."

Thus the 250 and more characters of Shakespeare's dramas march across this stage and we find something of the counterpart in each day. He wrote, in his own way, the undercurrent of an ancient moral truth, "Be not deceived: God is not mocked; for whatsoever a man soweth, that shall he also reap."

Washington Comment

WASHINGTON — (NEA) — Miscellaneous notes from the Republican convention in San Francisco:

On a blackboard used to announce press conferences, someone neatly chalked in this line early in the convention: "I'd rather write than be president."

The next day, this postscript had been added: "I've read your stuff. You'd better run for president."

This note was scribbled in crayon over a sign over a Hilton Hotel press room: "Tickets gone. Money gone. Me too."

Newspaper reporters are still grumbling about the overwhelming numbers of television newsmen, cameras, paraphernalia and wires at San Francisco. "There must be three cameras for each of the 1,308 delegates," mused one newsman, "per network, that is."

Another sadly threw in the towel after being caught red-footed by a house detective in a hotel lobby where cameramen were setting up for a morning broadcast of the "Today" show.

"Sorry, sir," the detective said. "You have to stay on."

Rail Profits Gain In East

NEW YORK (AP)—The profit picture for Eastern railroads has brightened.

The Pennsylvania, New York Central and Norfolk & Western railroads reported Thursday big gains in earnings for the second quarter and first half of this year.

Tighter cost controls and increased freight revenues were credited for the improvement.

The Pennsylvania, the nation's largest, earned $11,628,500, or 85 cents a share, in the first half against a loss of $1,119,779 in the 1963 period.

In the second quarter the line's profits totaled $8,460,200, or 62 cents a share, compared with $6,825,300, or 51 cents a share, a year earlier.

The Central reaped its highest first half profits since 1946. Its income of $10,788,751, equal to $1.65 a share, compared with a loss of $4,412,407 in the 1963 first half.

For the second quarter the Central's earnings were $9,753,575, or $1.47 a share, against $3,474,715, or 53 cents a share, a year earlier.

Norfolk & Western's first half net income rose to $35,190,403, or $4.69 a share, from $31,360,394, or $4.18 a share.

In the second quarter, the railroad's profits amounted to $18,825,832, or $2.51 a share, up from $17,943,170.

HOUGHTON — Twenty-four men have been enrolled at Michigan Technological University in a $96,000 manpower retraining program in surveying for civil engineer aides. The 48-week course is funded under the Manpower Development and Training Act. It is under the direction of Tech's Division of Continuing Education, in cooperation with the Michigan Employment Security Commission.

Purpose of the program is to teach workers new skills in fields with existing shortages of trained personnel. Graduates of the course will emerge as qualified surveyors, but not registered surveyors.

Trainees in the new course include Leo N. Brady and Wilbert S. Willette, Sault Ste. Marie; Alexander P. Fagotti and Richard F. Reuss, Crystal Falls; Gary F. Porvilly, Escanaba; Michael L. Free Booklets On Arthritis Offered In Delta

Information booklets on arthritis are available at the office of the Delta Menominee Health Department in the Delta County Building, announces Ted Austad, chairman of the National Foundation in Delta County.

Arthritis is the nation's No. 1 crippling, afflicting 12 million Americans. An estimated 5 million of them rheumatoid arthritis, the most severe form of disease.

Victims of arthritis and rheumatic disease outnumber persons with heart conditions 2 to 1. It is not, as commonly believed, merely a "normal hazard of aging," because there are more than 7 million arthritics under 65 years of age, and nearly 2 million under 45 years. Children are also afflicted; some 45,000 victims of the disease are under 17.

Arthritis keeps 50,000 workers off the job every day, causing a loss in wages of $1 million a day. Serious disability can be avoided in almost all cases if the symptoms of arthritis are recognized, if there is no delay in seeking medical diagnosis, if proper treatment is started in the early stages of the disease and faithfully followed.

The National Foundation March of Dimes is seeking the cause of arthritis in scientific research.

Kennedy Exhibit Booked In Detroit

A traveling exhibit of personal papers and memorabilia of the late President John F. Kennedy, including the handwritten draft of his inaugural address, his rocking chair and similar objects, will be at the Detroit Institute of Arts, starting Aug. 1. The exhibit will be open to the public without charge from 9 a. m. to 9 p. m. for four days. The exhibit, sponsored by the John F. Kennedy Library, will include 70 photographs and many of the historic documents and personal papers associated with the Kennedy Administration. In the latter will be the President's notes on the Cuban missile crisis, the test ban treaty discussions, civil right and many speeches.

The touring exhibit will visit a total of 22 other cities from coast to coast, concluding in San Francisco on Oct. 18.

In the meantime, work is going forward on aspects of the library, according to Eugene Black, chairman of the board of trustees of the library.

Ann Landers Girl, 14, Should Know Better

Dear Ann Landers: Phyllis, our 14-year-old daughter, invited her girl friend to spend the night with her. The two girls decided they'd like to have some blonde streaks in their dark brown hair. They went out and bought a bottle of extra strong peroxide and you ought to see what they did to themselves. When Phyllis and her friend showed up at the breakfast table this morning my husband and I were absolutely horrified.

The girls were sheepish and admitted that their hair didn't turn out the way they had hoped it would. The guest muttered, "I'm afraid my mother will kill me."

An hour later I received a phone call from the girl's mother. She was furious and said it was my fault. According to her, I should have kept my eye on the girls. The woman said she was taking her daughter to the beauty shop and getting her hair cut off—even if the child winds up looking like Yul Brynner.

Was it my fault? Should I insist our daughter have her hair cut off too—as punishment? I need your advice.—HAVOC IN HINSDALE

Dear Havoc: Fourteen-year-old girls should not need policing. The woman is blaming you unjustly. In my book your daughter has suffered enough. Rather than give her a prison hair cut which would only add to her humiliation, insist that she earn the price of a professional hair tint, and have her hair restored to its natural color.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband passed away in 1959. I am 58 years old and have been the constant companion these past two years of a widower who is 63. I enjoy this man's company a great deal, get along well with his married children and his grandsons call me "Nanna."

Last week, for no apparent reason, he said to me, "I'll never marry again. Why should I? Everything is just the way I want it." I was deeply hurt because I was expecting a proposal of marriage at any moment. Things are NOT the way I want them, Ann. I would like to get married again—if not to this man, then to someone else. Shall I tell him how I feel? Or would it be prudent to wait a little longer and hope he will ask me to marry him on his own?—STILL PEPPY

Dear Peppy: A man of 63 is on his own. He has been frank with you, and now you ought to be frank with him. Tell him you no longer care to date just for the fun of it and since he is not interested in marriage he'd better find another "constant companion." If this doesn't produce orange blossoms give up already.

Dear Ann Landers: Byron and I have been arguing about something for weeks. We are both 22 although you probably will think we sound like 9-year-olds.

Whenever Byron and I go to a party or a dance, he disappears the minute we arrive and I'm on my own. One of the big problems is that Byron is a terrific dancer and I am just fair. He always hunts on the shimmy queen of the crowd and never checks to see what I am doing. Believe me, I like him to dance with other girls but when he doesn't dance even one number with me I feel like a fifth wheel. I've told him he is inconsiderate but he says I am childish and demanding.

What do you say?—Stranded

Dear Stranded: This is a date? If you drove your own car you wouldn't need Byron at all.

Give him his hat and tell him to date the shimmy queens.

Do you lack self-confidence? Have trouble making friends? If so, send for ANN LANDERS' booklet, "How To Be Well-Liked," enclosing with your request 20c in coin and a long, self-addressed, stamped envelope.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of this newspaper enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Alice Salmi Is Bride Of James M. Larson

The Altars of St. Joseph's Church in Perkins were flanked with pink gladioli and white pompons for the marriage today of Miss Alice Ida Salmi to James Michael Larson.

The double ring ceremony was performed at 11 a.m. by Rev. Edward Malloy. Mrs. William Avery was the soloist and was accompanied by Miss Eunice Peterson. Mrs. Avery sang The Lord's Prayer and O Perfect Love.

Parents of the bride couple are Rock residents, Mr. and Mrs. Eino Salmi and Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Larson.

Miss Bonita Campbell of St. Clair Shores, a classmate of the bride was maid of honor and another classmate, Miss Laurie Mankiewicz of Rock was bridesmaid. The bride's cousin, Judy Walimaa of Detroit was junior bridesmaid.

Attending the bridegroom were his brother, Jack Larson of Rock as best man and the bride's brother, Gerald Salmi of Marquette as groomsmen. Terrance Larson, the bridegroom's nephew and Allen Salmi, a cousin of the bride, ushered the guests to their seats.

Taffeta Gown

The new Mrs. Larson chose a gown of white nylon taffeta with a full length skirt and a bodice featuring three quarter length sleeves. The bodice featured lace and seed pearl appliques. The same trim was featured on the bell shaped skirt. The long detachable train was fastened by a self bow. Her veil of imported silk illusion was gathered to a cluster of small taffeta roses and seed pearls. She carried a crescent shaped bouquet of white butterfly roses.

Identical gowns of pale pink nylon organdy were worn by the bridal attendants. The dresses featured a scooped neckline and capped sleeves. The fitted bodice and bell shaped skirt were appliqued with a spray of rose buds and a single rose. The matching headpieces were nylon tulle caught to a single pink rose. The dresses were designed and made by friends of the bride couple. They carried colonial bouquets of pink and white pompons.

Following the ceremony a wedding dinner was served for the bridal party at the House of Ludington. The reception will be held at the Rock Lions Clubhouse.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Salmi chose a two piece nylon jersey print in shades of brown and white with white accessories and a corsage of white pompons. The bridegroom's mother is wearing a one piece navy blue ribbon knit dress with matching accessories and a corsage of red and white carnations.

At the reception Barbara Cleary, the bridegroom's sister and Betty Larson, his sister-in-law will open the gifts. Mary Wygant, another sister, will pour coffee. Mary Wilcox, the bride's cousin will cut the cake and Joyce Salo, a friend, will serve punch. Cheryl Larson, the bridegroom's niece is in charge of the guest book.

Rehearsal dinner for the bridal party Friday night was given by the bridegroom's parents at Jack's Restaurant in Rapid River.

Mr. Larson and his bride will honeymoon at Niagara Falls after which they will make their home at 1014 Mason St., Apt. 4, in Flint.

The bride is a graduate of Rock High School and Career Academy in Milwaukee. Her husband attended St. Norbert's College in West DePere, Wis., and is a graduate of Ferris Institute State College in Big Rapids.

Donna M. Ayotte Is Bride Of R. F. Schiesser

Donna Mae Ayotte and Richard Fred Schiesser Jr., were married June 13 at St. Mary's Church in Hermansville at a double ring ceremony performed by Rev. Patrick Frankard.

Mr. and Mrs. Victor Ayotte of Hermansville are the bride's parents and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Schiesser of Wilson are parents of the bridegroom.

The couple is presently at home in Nadeau after their honeymoon to the Wisconsin Dells.

Attending the bride were Arlene Szapa, her sister, as matron of honor, Wanda Getzloff, Wauwatosa, Wis., Lucille Ayotte and Susie Schiesser were bridesmaids. Dora Dombrowski, the bride's cousin was flower girl.

Joseph Szapa, the bride's brother-in-law, was best man of Mr. Schiesser and Robert Getzloff, Clarence Ayotte and Danny Vincent were groomsmen. Roger Miller and Bernard Poquette seated the guests. The bride's nephew, Terry Szapa, was the ring bearer.

The bride's floor length gown was of silk organza and alencon lace. Her silk and lace mantilla veil was attached to a queen's crown of seed pearls. She carried white carnations and red roses in a cascading bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Hermansville High School and will graduate next month from the Beauty Academy in Escanaba. Her husband graduated from Bark River High School.

Women Admit Estate Fraud

ST. JOSEPH (AP)—Mrs. Hanna Klahm, 54, and her daughter, Mrs. Marianne Piner, 34, both of St. Joseph, pleaded guilty Friday to charges of conspiracy to defraud in an estate case involving $8,886.

Each was released by Berrien County Circuit Court after posting bonds of $2,500 to await presentence investigation. The offense carries a maximum penalty of 5 years in prison, $10,000 fine, or both.

They were accused in the disappearance of the money from the estate of Mrs. Alma Sturm, a friend of both, who died last October. The women were arrested on the fraud charges last February after withdrawing $8,883 from a Mount Clemens bank safety deposit box.

Perjury charges also were lodged against them after a probate court hearing here in which they denied knowing the whereabouts of money withdrawn from Mrs. Sturm's account.

Still under investigation is the reported Easter morning theft of $8,000 from Mrs. Piner's home. Authorities said the money was withdrawn from a Benton Harbor bank account held jointly by the women.

New Spreader Cuts Road Ice

LANSING (AP)—An invention by four Michigan Highway Department employees may help improve winter driving conditions on highways across the nation next winter.

The device, which does a better job of controlling spread of ice-melting chemicals on high-speed highways, was designed and developed by Specifications Engineer A. J. Karpus, Field Equipment Supervisor William Kutch, and Equipment Inspectors Mike Ottosen and Leo Tift.

The State Administrative Board this week authorized the department to license the commercial manufacture and sale of the device.

The four employees have patented the spreader, which fits on the back of a snow plow truck, but have turned it over to the highway department.

The board ruled that no royalties or fees would be paid by manufacturers, "since the use of the system will contribute to highway safety in all states, counties and municipalities."

Not only does the spreader contribute to safety, it has saved the department several hundred thousand dollars because of its increased efficiency.

It permits the driver to match the speed of the spreader to that of the truck, and to change the width of the area covered to match conditions.

Mr. and Mrs. Gary Roether and children arrived from Leadville, Colo., to spend a few weeks with her parents the Walter Schermers.

COSTS TO COLLECT

CHICAGO (AP)—The cost of collecting federal taxes is currently running 45 cents for every $100 of revenue.

The Internal Revenue Service says that during 1962 it determined the ratio when the nation's taxpayers put a then record $99.4 billions in the government coffers. The present cost of 45 cents compares with 32 cents per $100 in 1944, the lowest on record, and the all-time high of $5.30 of 1871. When the graduated income tax began in 1913, the IRS spent $1.59 for every $100 it collected.

Briefly Told

Lakeside Lodge F&AM 371 will hold a special communication Monday at 7:30 p.m. at the Masonic Temple, to confer the Fellow Craft degree. Lunch will be served and visiting Masons are invited.

Research Chief Joins UM Staff

ANN ARBOR (AP)—Dr. J. W. Leonard, chief of research and development for the Conservation Department, has been named professor of natural resources at the University of Michigan.

In addition to the full professorship, Leonard will serve during the 1964-65 school year as acting chairman of the Department of Fisheries in the U-M School of Natural Resources.

Small Car Slides Down Highway On Its Side

A car driven by Nola Simon, 35, of 7811 Wisconsin Ave., Dearborn, was involved in an unusual accident at 10:50 a.m., Friday on US-2 near Trailer Park. When the right wheel of the little German-made car dropped off the shoulder, the vehicle tipped on its left side and skidded down the highway. Afterwards it righted itself and was four feet off the road, at near right angles to the highway. Mrs. Simon's son, Paul, 8, had a head bump, but she and her daughter, Sarah, 4, were uninjured. The left side of the car was extensively damaged.

Car Burns

Public safety officers were called at 12:20 a.m., Friday when a car owned by Joseph Carefelle caught fire on N. Cedar St. Defective wiring caused and severe damage resulted, officers reported.

Indians Call It Land Of Plenty

By KENNETH S. LOWE

Indians say that God's Lake country in Cree means "Land of Plenty"—and it certainly is.

This vast land in eastern Manitoba 360 miles northeast of Winnipeg has plenty of fur, fish and game and even some gold.

This may explain why the Indians, who are so much a part of the country, are so contemptuous of its natural resources.

To illustrate: One afternoon while Frank Russell of Marquette and I were having lunch with our Cree guides on a rocky shelf along God's River, we noticed a hen mallard circling and landing in the water near us, quacking constantly.

"You ever eat mallard eggs?" I said I hadn't.

"Better than chicken eggs," he said. "Once I found 17 in one nest."

Raid Too Late

Without bothering to finish his coffee, Abe pushed the canoe across the river and began hunting for the nest. But he was too late. The eggs already had hatched and the hen was quacking to warn the yellow bundles of fuzz to remain hidden in a crevice along the river's edge.

White duck hunters cringe at the thought of robbing a mallard's nest, but to the Cree mallard eggs are just another of nature's bounties in the Land of Plenty.

Lake other Cree, Abe has spent his entire life in the outdoors. He is an expert canoeist, a skilled woodsman and a tireless worker.

We judged him to be about 28 years old, but he has never seen an automobile. The nearest road is about 200 miles from God's Lake.

Abe spends his winters trapping mink, otter and beaver. He spends his summers piloting fishermen across wind swept God's Lake or through the seething rapids of God's River in freighter canoes that the Cree make by hand. He works about 16 hours a day as a guide at the fishing camp where we met him last month at the east end of God's Lake. One evening when we came in from a long day of fishing, Abe was sent out to fight a forest fire a few miles from the camp. Early the next morning, he grinned when he told us he had worked on the fire until after midnight.

Abe Short On Talk

The other Cree we met share Abe's rugged life. The only other people we saw in two days of fishing on God's River were three Cree going upstream in a canoe. The one in the bow of the canoe had a horribly disfigured face that had left his left eye resting on his cheekbone. They chatted in Cree with Abe and our other guide, Rod, as their canoe passed ours.

When they had gone by, we asked Abe where they had come from. "Shumattawa," he said. "They've been three nights on the river."

I learned later that Shumattawa is a small trading post and settlement 200 miles below the God's River outlet. It means "meeting of the rivers," the place where Echoing River flows into God's River.

Abe seldom spoke except in answer to some question we put to him, and his response then usually was laconic. His favorite answer was, "I don't know."

Russell wanted to know how far down the river an outpost camp was located. "I don't know," Abe answered.

"How far is I don't know?" Russell asked.

"Forty miles," said Abe.

All travel in God's Lake country in summer is by canoe or float plane. In winter, tractor trains are run across the snow from the railroad stop at Ilford 120 miles away to bring in supplies.

Snow In June

The winters must be long and bitter. The week we spent at God's Lake Lodge was in the first part of June, but we found snow along the shaded banks of God's River and saw one ice-covered island in God's Lake. A light snow fell one morning, but melted as soon as it touched ground. The days were reasonably warm, however, when we were protected from the wind. Flies and mosquitoes were not much of a problem, probably because of the wind, but I understand they mount great assaults there in July and August.

Looking back on it now, I remember God's Lake country as a land of beauty because of its deep blue lakes and rushing rivers and silent spruce forests, as a land of enchantment because of its long way from brick and concrete and steel, as a land of fascination because of its hardy Cree Indians and as a land of excitement because of its unsurpassed brook trout fishing.

ABE (LEFT) and Rod pose along God's River for snapshot. Both are hard-working guides who know river's treacherous rapids intimately.

MANISTIQUE

Girl Scouts Get New Sign

Manistique Girl Scouts are holding their annual camping session at Camp Hy Da Way, near Indian Lake and Thursday night presented an eventide program for parents as sleeping gear was brought for an overnight.

The camp was named some years ago by Sue Slining, in a contest, and this year her parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Slining presented a rustic marker for it. The sign meets requirements for design and location along the highway. Sue's sister, Patricia is among campers this year and Mrs. Slining is Day Camp chairman.

The Girl Scouts opened their program, under direction of Evelyn Berwin with a flag ceremony and patriotic song. Afterwards they presented songs, dances and rounds of music. In one number, "Old Woman" Valerie Lynts and Barbara Clement played caricature roles, wearing straw hats, with a large pipe and flowers for "props."

During the program Miss Berwin noted the camp has electricity and refrigeration this year and hoped by next year water would also be available. Appreciation was expressed for courtesy services by Indian Lake State Park, for water, garbage disposal and swimming.

Mrs. Earl Williamson, Girl Scout Council president thanked the various individuals and firms who have made contributions for the camp. Jennie Putnam bequest funds aided the Council in obtaining site and developing it. A permanent building has been erected, with dining facilities and large tents were purchased.

Twenty-five girls are enjoying the camping period this week. They are Mary Margaret Bertrand, Paula Cheslak, Barbara Clement, Laurie Gesko, Barbara Hentschell, Marcia Jetty, Marcia Kane, Lynn DeCoe, Laura DeCoe, Sally Brandstrom, Valerie Lynts, Patricia Slining, Gail Schwartz, Judy Barton, Vickie Beaudry, Vicki Danko, Jan Hough, Julie Hough, Gladys Richey, Cynthia Schneider, Barbara Schneider, Marcy Creeden, Joyce Cook, Deborah Peterson, and Janet Peterson.

Junior Counsellors are Sally Bonifas, Molly Orr, Johnette Leveille and Marcia Papas.

A second session is scheduled next week. Mrs. Gjermund Berwin is assisting with the camp.

Senior Citizens Meet Tuesday

Senior Citizens of Schoolcraft County will meet July 28 at the Recreation Center at 7:30 p.m. for a short program, followed by a business meeting. Refreshments will be served.

Format for future meetings will be discussed. Representatives from senior citizens' groups from Escanaba will be present.

Stanley Carlyon will give information on activities in the Escanaba area. Included in the group will be Mr. Williams of Escanaba who is the Social Security Administrator for this area.

Earl J. Cousineau will present the program, arranged by Mrs. William Hood and Mrs. Earl LeBrasseur.

Carlyon reports the new organization has been getting excellent support and cooperation. Anyone over 55 is eligible to attend. Others interested in helping are invited. Vacating senior citizens are also invited.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. John Neu and family of Berkley, Ill., are visiting at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dale Ott, 704 Garden Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Smith and family, 114 S. Front St., have returned home after spending a two-week vacation visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ben Lockwood and family of Minneapolis, Minn., Mr. and Mrs. Donald Sniatynski, Kenosha, Wis., and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Janke, Mr. and Mrs. Orin Freeland, Mr. and Mrs. Kendall Freeland, and Mr. and Mrs. Meridith Freeland and their families of Milwaukee, Wis.

Inland Steel Officers Visit

P. D. Block, Jr., vice chairman of the board of directors for Inland Steel and Carl B. Jacobs, vice president of raw materials flew to Manistique Friday and visited Inland Lime and Stone Co. Following a luncheon, they left by plane for iron mines of the firm in the western part of Upper Michigan.

Yacht Club Asks Help To Move Court Building

Commodore Robert Walters of the Manistique Yacht Club today sent out an S.O.S. for help Sunday to move the former Justice Court building, purchased for a clubhouse, to the Yacht Harbor area.

Plans call for installing a clubhouse, office, shower, and restroom facilities, and landscaping the area for a park.

"We need all the help we can get, both club members and other volunteers," Walters said.

The Yacht club developed the Manistique harbor, building dock facilities and a clubhouse. The harbor enjoys steady patronage by pleasure craft in summer. Electricity and fuel are provided at the docks, and a clubhouse has been fashioned in a fish shed.

The Justice Court building was renovated a few years ago by the city and will provide attractive quarters, Walters noted.

Paper Mill Office Workers Fly To Ontario

Six women office employees of Manistique Pulp and Paper Co. were flown recently to the Great Lakes Paper Co. plant in Fort William, Ont. There they saw the world's largest paper machine, one of four which the company has in its high speed operations.

The group went by Great Lakes plane and returned the same day, following a luncheon arranged by Percy Fox, chairman of the board, and Warwick Fox, president.

On their return they were brought to Escanaba and were entertained at a dinner party at the House of Ludington. The group included Mrs. Donald Ott, Mrs. Leo Schneider, Mrs. Hector Popour, Sally Gardapee, Susan Miller and Mrs. George Chvala.

Group Goes To Washington

A group of five Upper Peninsula 4-H club members left Friday enroute to Washington, D. C., for a citizenship course. Roseann Fleck and Irene Archey of Schoolcraft County, Carl Wick of Delta County and Judy Wood and Theresa Parks of Luce County were in the group.

Albert Fleck, father of Roseann drove the group to Alma where they stayed overnight in homes, and then boarded a bus today for Washington. Enroute home they will follow a similar plan.

Michigan has about 40 from eight counties among the delegates from seven states.

A short course in citizenship, and tours of Washington and its famous monuments is scheduled. They will visit the grave of John F. Kennedy.

Meetings will be held in the National 4-H Center. A visit with Cong. Victor Knox and lunch at the Capitol are included in the plans.

Manistique Host For 1965 U.P. Golf Tourney

The Wednesday Ladies' League of Indian Lake Golf and Country Club was informed July 22 that the U.P. Tournament will be held in Manistique in 1965.

Golf prizes were awarded to Mrs. John Kasun and Mrs. Ossie Smits for low putts and Mrs. Edward Leonard, Mrs. Howard LaBar and Mrs. Charles Atwater for his putts.

Bridge awards went to Mrs. Emmet McNamara, Mrs. Fred Gorsche, Mrs. Charles Atwater, Mrs. John Kelly and Mrs. Andrew Anderson.

Mrs. Vern DuFour won the special prize.

Hostesses for the July 29th meeting will be Selma Atkinson, Helen Voisine and Mrs. Carl Makel. Reservations may be made before Tuesday noon by calling 341-2749.

Theme for next week is "Golfers Know Best." They choose handicaps. Scores nearest to par will be chosen.

Pairings for July 29 are K. LeBrasseur - M. Laux M. Malloy - S. Richards P. Carlson - F. Pawley T. Atwater - A. Stram M. Kelly - S. Atkinson S. Phillion - L. Thompson K. McKilligan - A. Modders F. Scouts Will Visit Beaver Island

Boy Scouts of Troop 400 are making an expedition to Beaver Island Tuesday aboard a steel fish boat, the Robert and Richard, of Adson Casey.

Casey is donating use of the boat for the 20 Scouts, who will be accompanied by Ken Gillingham, Scoutmaster, and Ted Hentschell, assistant leader. Joseph Davis and Joseph Bosanic also will accompany the troop.

Final details will be planned at a meeting at 7 p. m., Monday in the basement of Zion Lutheran Church. Archie LaFreniere of Beaver Island will arrange for a tour following the 42-mile boat trip. Beaver Island, famed for the former settlement of King James Strang and Mormon followers still has some of the old buildings standing. It also has a Coast Guard station, a Catholic church, several commercial buildings, a golf course and airstrip.

Scouts will work on merit badges during the trip. They plan to return Wednesday evening. Each is to bring a life preserver for the trip and have written parental consent. The Sportsmen's Club sponsors the troop.

Hospital

Admitted to Schoolcraft Memorial Hospital were George Johnson, Route 1 and Ruth Caldwell of Rockford, Mich.

Discharged were Cindy Bertrand, John Vallier, Lucina Johnson, Elaine Hartman, Leo Dalgord and Blanche LaMontagne.

Mylander Twirls 1-Hitter In Little League Tourney

Escanaba Little League All Stars go to work again this afternoon at 3 o'clock to face Manistique for the Area Championship after they downed Munising 7-0 yesterday.

Danny Mylander was most of the story for Escanaba yesterday. The little fellow gave his teammates very little to do as he struck out 14 of the 18 batters who came to the plate.

He gave the second baseman two pop ups to catch, and gave the right fielder a fly ball to grab. Otherwise the rest of the fielders had little to do but stand and watch the Munising players swing at the air.

Mylander allowed one single in the game, and then catcher Tom Kangas quickly took care of that man by throwing him out when he tried to swipe second. Another player got as far as first on a walk, but he died there as his teammates went down swinging.

At the plate for Escanaba, the story was mostly Mylander again as he collected two doubles in supporting the cause. Robert F. Thompson, Bob Stacey, Steve Kleiman and Bob McGinn each clouted singles for the winners.

Escanaba bunched their hits in the fifth inning, breaking the game open with five runs. They also had runs in the fourth and sixth.

Manistique dumped Marquette out of the tournament yesterday 6-1. Manistique managed six hits while Dave Barton twirled a two-hitter for the winners. Tom Houllmont took the loss for the Marquette team.

Marquette plays Munising at 1 o'clock this afternoon for the consolation award.

If the Escanaba Little Leagueers win over Manistique this afternoon they will represent the area in the Upper Peninsula-Northern Wisconsin Tournament at Ashland. In Ashland the winners from four areas clash. They include this area, Calumet, K. I. Sawyer and Ashland.

The 16th annual Upper Peninsula - Northern Wisconsin Tennis Open, sponsored each year by the Department of Recreation, will be held in Escanaba on August 15 and 16.

The entry fee is $2 for the senior divisions and $1 for the junior and intermediate classes. Registration blanks may be obtained from Paul Vardigan, 1704 8th avenue south, Escanaba, Michigan, or from Erwood Slade, 117 South 3rd street, Escanaba. Trophies will be awarded to winners in the senior divisions with medals going to first and second place finishers in the junior classes. The deadline for entering is Tuesday, August 11.

Competition will be restricted to singles play and opening round matches are scheduled for Saturday morning, August 15, at the Ludington Park tennis courts which will be tournament headquarters.

Players may register in one of the following classes: Junior Boys, 15 to 17; Intermediate Boys, 15 to 17; Senior Men, 18 and over; Junior Girls, 12 to 14; Intermediate Girls, 15 to 17; and Senior Women, 18 and over.

Three Teams Tie For First Spot; Picnic Wednesday

A three way tie for first place was created in the American League in Beginners Baseball as Jefferson No. 1 dropped St. Thomas No. 1 from the unbeaten ranks. St. Joe, Jefferson and St. Thomas have each won two games while losing one.

In National League action previously unbeaten St. Ann No. 2 was defeated by Lemmer No. 2 in the feature game of the week. The win moved Lemmer into a first place tie with St. Ann as both have won three games and lost one. St. Pat and St. Thomas-Webster remained strong contenders by winning their games.

Nowicki Leads Bowler's Open

PITTSBURGH, (AP)—Steve Nowicki of Rochester, N.Y., bowled a 12 game total of 2,668 Friday to take the lead in the Professional Bowlers Association Greater Pittsburgh Open.

Nowicki, in topping the field of 120, bowled the tournament's highest six game block, 1,388.

Following Nowicki were Mike Limongello of Babylon, N.Y., 2,632; Glenn Allison of Los Angeles, 2,599; Buzz Fazio of Detroit, 2,577; Jim St. John of San Jose, Calif., 2,549; Jerry Hale of Richmond, Calif., 2,548; Billy Harowick of San Mateo, Calif., 2,530; Ray Bluth of St. Louis, 2,527; Bill Allen of Orlando, Fla., 2,526; and Les Barrett of San Mateo, Calif., 2,525.

The field will bowl 12 more qualifying rounds Saturday. The finals in the $23,500 tournament will be held Sunday.

114 Craft Race For Mackinac Starting Today

CHICAGO (AP)—The 333-mile Chicago to Mackinac Island race began today with a record fleet of 114 craft competing.

The race, over the somewhat unpredictable waters of Lake Michigan, is scheduled to begin at 3 p.m. EST. Barring extraordinary winds or calm, leading craft should reach Mackinac Island late Monday or early Tuesday.

Last year high winds and a pounding sea knocked a quarter of the fleet out of the running. Blitzen, a 56-foot cutter owned and skippered by Ron and Bill Schoendorf of Milwaukee, will be defending its title among the larger boats.

Meteor III, a 38-foot craft owned by Henry Burkard of the Bayview, Mich., Yacht Club, will try to make it two straight titles among the smaller boats.

Homer Contest

Detroit, Yankees Split Before 51,000 Fans

By BERNIE KENNEDY
Associated Press Sports Writer

DETROIT (AP) — It took the Detroit Tigers a while, but they finally found out the hard way that it's tough to try to match the New York Yankees when it comes to hitting home runs.

Before the largest crowd in the American League this year—51,044—the Tigers split a two-night doubleheader with the Yankees Friday, winning 10-5 in the opener and losing the second game 6-3.

The Tigers brought the fans to their feet with an eight-run uprising in the eighth inning of the opener. Six of the runs were scored before the Yankees were able to get a man out.

Each team had three home runs in that opener, with Mickey Mantle and Joe Pepitone each stroking two-run shots and Clete Boyer notching a solo blast to account for all of the New York runs.

Dick McAuliffe and Jerry Lumpe had solo clouts for the Tigers before Al Kaline hit a two-run homer in the eighth, triggering the big rally.

But the Yankees continued to unleash their power in the nightcap with homers by Hector Lopez, Peppitone and Elston Howard accounting for all but one of their runs.

Kaline got another two-run homer in the first inning of the second game—the first circuit smash in as many games—but that was all as Hal Reniff and Ralph Terry limited the Tigers to a run and four hits over the last seven innings.

Whitey Ford was the New York starter in the nightcap but left after two innings because of his recurring hip injury.

None of the 10 homers hit in

RON GAUTHIER will be one of the big threats at the plate this afternoon in tournament action at Marquette in American Legion Ball. Gauthier is the first sacker for the Escanaba Cubs who face Ishpeming, the 12th District Titlists, at Marquette for the Upper Peninsula Championship. Escanaba has won the Upper Peninsula title for the past nine years. The State Tournaments will start in Menominee Aug. 7. (Daily Press Photo)

Esky Cub Game Rescheduled

The Escanaba Cubs began their defense of the U. P. Title at Marquette at 1 o'clock this afternoon, instead of at 10:30 this morning, due to the damage done to the playing field by last night's storm. The second game scheduled for today has been postponed until 10:30 Sunday morning. If a third game is necessary with Ishpeming, it will be played as scheduled in the afternoon at 2 o'clock Sunday.

Stable Gets Past Gabe Terronez; Wants Griffith

NEW YORK (AP)—Jose Stable is past Gabe Terronez. The welterweight contender's manager, Manny Gonzalez, is boosting him for a crack at champion Emile Griffith.

After Friday night's nationally televised bout at Madison Square Garden, in which the 23-year-old New York-based Cuban stopped Terronez, of Fresno, Calif., on a eighth round TKO, Gonzalez cornered Gil Clancy and Howard Albert, Griffith's co-managers, and asked for a title fight "as soon as possible."

Albert said he would be willing to sign for a fall bout with Stable, "if some promoter comes up with the money."

"We want $65,000 for a title fight," Albert said. "If someone says yes, I'll sign right now."

SF Giants Beat LA Dodgers 11-3

By MIKE RATHET
Associated Press Sports Writer

The San Francisco Giants, with the help of two Dodger third basemen Derrell Griffith's four errors rallied for nine runs and went on to a 11-3 victory over Los Angeles Friday night.

The victory kept the second-place Giants two games back of the National League-leading Philadelphia Phillies and once again dropped the Dodgers below the .500 level, 10 games off the pace.

Juan Marichal, who brought his record to 14-5 and beat the Dodgers for the fifth straight time, was locked in a pitching duel with Joe Moeller for five innings in the opener of the three-game series between the two staunch rivals. A crowd of 54,026 was on hand.

Marichal opened the sixth with a single, took third on Harvey Kuenn's double and both scored on Hal Lanier's single. Moeller then got two men and seemed to be headed out of the inning as Orlando Cepeda headed a grounder toward Griffith.

Griffith fielded it flawlessly—and threw it away.

Before the inning was over, Moeller was out. Howie Reed was in and so were nine runs.

While the Giants were making the most of some bad throwing, the Phillies made the most of some good throwing by left-hander Chris Short, who spaced six hits and lowered his earned run average to 1.95 in a 9-1 victory over St. Louis.

Third-place Cincinnati remained 4½ games back as Jim O'Toole beat Pittsburgh 2-0 with a four-hitter. Houston shut out the Chicago Cubs 1-0 behind Hal (Skinny) Brown and Jim Owens and the Milwaukee Braves belted the New York Mets 8-5.

Orioles Win Two, Regain AL Lead

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Wally Bunker, 19, and Dave Vineyard, 23, rookie members of the Baltimore pitching staff, hurled the Orioles back into first place in the American League Friday night with 2-1 and 7-2 victories over Washington.

Bunker pitched a five-hitter in the opener, increasing his record to 11-2 and reducing his earned run average to 2.85.

Vineyard bottled up the Senators with an even better performance in the second game. Two doubles in the seventh were the only hits he allowed in his second major league start.

Vineyard and Bunker were not alone in their youthful achievements Friday.

Luis Tiant, another 23-year-old rookie, pitched a six-hitter for his second victory without a defeat as Cleveland whipped Boston 6-1. Bridegroom Bob Chance, 24 and a rookie, drove in four Indian runs.

Then there was 24-year-old rookie John O'Donoghue who stopped Los Angeles 1-0 on six hits.

In other AL games, New York defeated Detroit 6-3 after losing 10-5 and Minnesota stopped an eight-game losing streak with a 6-3 triumph over Chicago.

The Orioles moved one game ahead of the Yankees in the pennant race. Bob Johnson's single following Charley Lau's double in the ninth gave Baltimore the first game victory. Johnson, batting for Bunker, got his 13th hit in 23 pinch hitting appearances.

Vineyard, now 1-1, walked two Senators in the first inning, then retired 16 men in a row before walking Chuck Hinton, who led off the seventh. Mike Brumley and Don Lock followed with consecutive doubles for Washington's runs.

Luis Aparicio, Boog Powell and Sam Bowens homered for the Orioles while Jerry Adair

Highland To Hold Inter-Club Meet

The Highland Golf Club will hold an Intra-Club Pari-Mutuel with the members of the Escanaba Country Club this coming Wednesday, July 29. The Pari-Mutuel will take place at the Highland Course and will start at 2 p. m.

There will be bridge for the non-golfers and dinner will be served at 7 p. m. Reservations must be in by Monday noon, July 27. Those wishing to play should call Mrs. James Douglas at ST6-3326.

Kiwanis Leads Babe Ruthers In Escanaba

Kiwanis Club retained its slim hold on first place in the Babe Ruth League by eking out a 5 to 4 win over Teamsters Local last Saturday and slugging out a 10 to 6 decision over Insurance Agents Association on Tuesday.

The game of the week saw Harnischfeger and Teamsters battle to a 16 to 16 deadlock last Monday night. Mead Paper Company took advantage of costly errors to defeat the Escanaba Banks, 4 to 0, in Wednesday night's feature.

The annual All Star game turned out to be a slugfest with the American league stars coming from behind to score 8 runs in the sixth inning and win going away, 14 to 11.

With two weeks of official league play left for this season the race for first place is still wide open and four teams remain in contention — Harnischfeger, Kiwanis, Mead, and Teamsters. Managers are considering staging a single-elimination tournament during the first week of August but no decision has been reached. Regular league games and make-up contests are scheduled for that week and would not be played if a tournament is held at that time.

The complete schedule for next week follows:

MONDAY — Kiwanis vs. Mead Paper Company.

TUESDAY — Teamsters Local 328 vs. Insurance Agents Association.

WEDNESDAY — Escanaba Banks vs. Harnischfeger Local 632.

SATURDAY — Kiwanis Club vs. Escanaba Banks at 10; Teamsters Local 328 vs. Mead Paper Company at 1; Insurance Agents Association vs. Harnischfeger Local 632 at 3.

Jamestown Slough Name Reminder Of Settlement

The following article about the old sawmill settlement of Jamestown off the Manistique River a half mile above the confluence of the Indian River was written by Harvey Cookson Saunders, 86, of Germfask, who recently led a group of foresters and historians on a river trip to the site of the former settlement. It will be marked as a historical site.

By HARVEY C. SAUNDERS

Driving west on U. S.-2, about one mile east of Manistique, you pass over the Soo Line Railroad. If you look to your right you will see what was in 1875 a well-timbered cedar and tamarack swamp. It now is, or looks like, a lake, flooded by the dams and flume of the Manistique Pulp & Paper Co.

This place is named Jamestown Slough, and in the winter is dotted with fish houses. I do not believe that many who fish there know how it got its name.

In 1875 Ebin James and Cornelius Ruggles, who had been in business in Oshkosh, Wis., with a saw and grist mill, burned out and were looking for a new location where there was a large supply of timber. A man by the name of McArthur and E. James owned a large amount of pine land located on the Manistique River and in the Thunder Lake and Murphy Creek area.

This timber was for sale, so James and Ruggles formed a partnership and were to pay McArthur so much a thousand board feet for the timber standing. When they came to Manistique in 1875 they found that the Chicago Lumber Co. owned all the land on both sides of the Manistique River and the Indian River up to about where the L. S. & M. Railroad crosses it, and as the Chicago Co. at that time owned nearly all the town, they did not welcome newcomers.

Get Government Land

James and Ruggles, in search for a place to build a sawmill, found that the Government Lots 2 and 3 in Section 6, Town 41 North, Range 15 West, was government land, so James filed on it or had some of his men do so.

In 1875 there was no railroad to Manistique and everything came in by boat. James and Ruggles advertised in Oshkosh for men wanted for mill work at Manistique. There were quite a number came, and Edwin Cookson was one of them, and they started to build the mill at the chosen site.

The road going to Jamestown left old U. S.-2 about half way from the Tannery Location, and where it comes on U. S.-2 near the railroad crossing.

The area flooded now was low land, well timbered, with a small creek flowing through it from the high hill to the east. The road had to be corduroyed. Clearing the land, and building the road and the mill was a big job, as everything for it came in by boat and was taken to the place by horses and wagon. It was a steam mill and it was completed in a very short time.

The first building completed was the boarding house. George Fernier was the first boarding boss. His son John clerked in the C. L. Hardware for some time after 1900. At that time the Northwestern Leather Co. of Manistique was using lots of hemlock bark, the men peeling it. Most of them worked by the cord and they had to buy their own tools, an axe and a spud.

John Fernier was the best axe salesman that I have met. When I asked for one, he asked, "Is it for hemlock knots?" I said, "Yes." He said, "We have them at all prices from 75c to $3 and this $3 one is tempered by a special process and it will clip hemlock knots and never make faces at them. Let me show you."

He had a large block about 12x12 inches square and two feet high. He took a new double bit axe, stuck it in the block, took a 6 inch spike and a hammer and cut the spike in two. He handed the axe to me and it was never dulled or broken in the least. I learned the trick and have repeated it many times.

James and Ruggles did very well while their timber came down the Manistique River from the Hiawatha Plains. This timber lasted about three years. The rest of their supply of timber was on Murphy Creek, near Thunder Lake, and had to come across Indian Lake and down the Indian River, then up the Manistique River to their mill, about a half mile. Their plans were to raft, or place a boom made from large logs and tow them up to the mill.

To take the logs up to the mill they built a small boat, a side-wheeler. It would not pull as much as a tug, so they had a power winch on the back part of the boat and a 12x12 inch timber about 25 feet long. This was called the grouser. It could be dropped to the bottom of the river on end to hold the boat any place in the river.

To operate, they tied onto the raft of logs with a good big tow-rope, run the boat up the river as far as the river was straight, drop the grouser, start the power winch and pull the raft of logs up to the boat, tie the raft of logs to trees or stumps on the bank so it could not drift down, raise the grouser by a power gear, run the boat up the river some distance, drop the grouser, or timber, and repeat the same operation until they got to the mill.

Property Divided

If the Jamestown Mill could have had the Manistique River all to itself, the men that worked for them believed that their plans to supply the mill with logs would have worked out all right, but the Chicago and Weston companies were putting a good many million feet of logs down the Manistique River.

For the James people to bring up a raft of logs, they had to close off the river above their mill so that the river would be clear of floating logs for them to go up. They did not have a pond or place for storage and they could not hold the other companies' logs for any length of time. They had to pay the labor for this extra work and their mill was out of logs a good part of the time.

The Chicago and Weston lumber companies sorting piers were about three-fourths of a mile above the Soo R. R. bridge and there were so many logs coming down that the river was full up past the Jamestown Mill. The partnership of James and Ruggles was broke.

Con Ruggles had taken a homestead in Section 10, Town 41 North, Range 15 West, south of the airport where all those spruce trees are that were planted by Russell Watson in the 1920's. James and Ruggles dissolved partnership. Ruggles taking one year's supply of food for him and his family, and James the mill, boat and all of Jamestown.

Ruggles moved to the homestead, got a team of horses on credit and starting clearing land, cutting cordwood. He delivered the cordwood to the dock in Manistique. The boats on Lake Michigan were wood-burners at that time, and paid $2.50 a cord for wood 4 feet in length, a standard cord.

Made Schoolcraft

Jamestown did not operate much after that, but most of the men who worked and built the place stayed and made Schoolcraft County their home. I am writing this from the stories I used to hear my Uncle Edwin Cookson and Murdock McNeil tell. Murdock was my log scaler for five years and the last work he was able to do was for me. They were with James when he built the town and they loved to spin yarns about the old days when they came to Manistique.

Reg. Ruggles is my very good friend and I was in Newberry the winter of 1961-62 and visited many hours with him. It made no difference what we were talking about, in less than 20 minutes he would ask me if I knew someone who lived in or around Manistique. I have this list of names of a few families who lived at Jamestown: George Fernia, boarding house; Gravel Snow, laborer, homestead across the road south of the airport; James Robertson, mill hand; Tom Boyd, engineer; A. Simes; Kartell family; Oliver Clement, camp foreman; John Gayer, mill hand.

Paddy Miles drove a horse on the tram car road, taking lumber to the dock. He was camp foreman for the Chicago Co. and stayed in Manistique the rest of his life.

Murdock McNeil worked for the Chicago Co. as camp foreman for many years after Jamestown closed down and was scaling logs for them when they sold out to the Consolidated Lumber Co. in 1912.

Homesteaded Property
My uncle, Ed Cookson, while working at Jamestown, had homesteaded 160 acres in Section 25, Town 42, Range 15 West. (It is now owned by Mark Schnurer). When Jamestown mill closed down he decided to stay on the homestead and make the required improvements as required of a homesteader. He got a team of horses and got work for his team with the Chicago Lumber Co. He drove his own team and did the camp blacksmithing nights.

He did this for several winters before they made him foreman of one of their camps. The first camp that he ran as foreman was on the old County Road between Germfask and the Fox River Farm, as it was called at that time. It is called the Chicago Farm now, in the Seney Refuge. On the old maps made when the survey of this area was made, the Driggs River is on the Fox River, the Big Fox, as the northwest branch of the Manistique River was called.

The name was changed when the railroad was built. From camp foreman Ed Cookson was made walking boss in charge of all their woods operations. He worked for the company at that job for 14 years, bought a tract of timber and started as an independent logger and did logging for the Chicago Co.

When Ruggles and James went broke on their venture, the Chicago Co. gave work to most of the Jamestown men. They also bought the logs and standing timber that McArthur and James had, and paid them a fair price, and sold Ruggles his team of horses on time.

From Memory

A. Weston owned controlling interest in the timber lands that the W. L. Co. had, and was a large stockholder of the Chicago Co. In the early days they tried to keep Manistique a one-company town. All the oldtimers say they were treated well. They tried to keep out the saloons and were church-going men and were always ready to help in any church affairs. In the early days there were a lot of Swedes in Manistique. There was one Baptist Church, but the Chicago Co. men helped the Swedes with their Swedish Baptist Church so they could have a minister of their own language.

This is written from memory and I expect that some of the old-timers may say I am wrong about some parts of it.

Auto Earnings At Record High

NEW YORK (AP)—The big three automakers are earning more money than ever before.

General Motors Corp. and Chrysler Corp. reported Thursday that profits and sales soared to record levels in the second quarter and first half of this year. Ford Motor Co. issued a similar report earlier in the week.

General Motors' sales and earnings were the highest ever reported by any company.

Its chairman, Frederic G. Donner, and president, John F. Gordon, attributed the surge to expansion in economic activity and resulting consumer confidence.

The Big Three's reports of great prosperity came while they were negotiating with the United Auto Workers on new labor contracts.

General Motors earned $602 million, equal to $2.11 a share, in the three months ended June 30, compared with $464 million, or $1.62 a share, in the second quarter of 1963. The previous record was $536 million, or $1.87 a share, in the 1964 first quarter.

First half earnings of the No. 1 automaker totaled $1,138,000,000, or $3.98 a share, compared with $878 million, or $3.07 a share, in the 1963 first half, which was the previous record.

Sales totaled $5,082,000,000 in the 1964 second quarter against $4,516,000,000 a year earlier. First half sales of $9,868,000,000 compared with $8,663,000,000 in the 1963 first half, the former record.

Chrysler, third ranking automaker, earned $60.6 million, equal to $1.61 a share, in the three months ended June 30 against $41.7 million, or $1.13 a share, a year earlier. First half earnings totaled $114.4 million, or $3.05 a share, compared with $77.9 million, or $2.11 a share, in the 1963 first half.

Ford's profits in the second quarter amounted to $179.7 million, equal to $1.63 a share, on sales of $2,672,600,000. This compares with $55.9 million, or $1.41 a share, on sales of $2,544,700,000.

In the first half, Ford's earnings were $324 million, or $2.93 a share, compared with $277.1 million, or $2.51 a share. Sales rose to $5,088,200,000 from $4,434,100,000.

Flaws Upset Railway Claim

LANSING (AP)—The State Public Service Commission may have hit on the successful formula to retain railroad service in Michigan, says chairman Peter Spivak.

The formula will be used in the commission fight to retain railroad service in northern Michigan, he declared.

Spivak commented after word was received from Washington that the commission has won a fight before the Interstate Commerce Commission (ICC) to retain commuter service from Detroit to Pontiac.

Spivak said this was one of the few victories achieved by a state commission on a passenger service reduction case in recent years.

The Michigan commission, Spivak said, was determined to build a case that would not be reversed by the ICC.

In the case of the Detroit-to-Pontiac commuter service, he said, staff and money were committed to study and analyze every detail of the railroad's case.

The commission staff, he said, found the Grand Trunk Railroad showed expense depreciation savings on coaches which were 50 years old. It also charged costs for repairs which had not been made for at least five years, he said.

Hard work found these flaws in the railroad case and the same technique, he said, is being applied in the commission fight against proposed railroad abandonments in the northern part of the state by the Pennsylvania Railroad, the New York Central Railroad and the Mackinac Transportation Co., all with abandonment petitions before the ICC.

Spivak estimated the commission has spent $7,000 on the northern Michigan railroad abandonment proposals. He said it is committed to spend an additional $20,000 on the case, and has hired two firms of Washington railroad consultants to help in the fight.

Muskegon County Candidate Raps Civil Rights Law

MUSKEGON (AP)—M. Sterling Primmer, Democratic candidate for Muskegon County prosecuting attorney, declared Thursday that, "if elected, I will not enforce the civil rights law."

Primmer, whose name will appear on the Sept. 1 Primary ballot, lists himself as a former assistant prosecutor and unsuccessful candidate for Congress in 1960.

Primmer said in a statement that his views on the new Civil Rights Act "are the same as" Arizona Sen. Barry Goldwater, Republican presidential nominee, who voted against the legislation in the Senate on grounds he thought some parts of it are unconstitutional.

"There will be no prosecutions in Muskegon County for violations of this act if I am elected," Primmer said.

1. Card of Thanks

Olsson

We wish to express our heartfelt thanks to the many friends and relatives who so kindly showed their sympathy during the illness and death of our beloved husband and brother, August Olsson. We also want to thank the doctors and nurses at St. Francis Hospital for their kindness and help during his stay there. We want to thank the Rev. Reuben Carlson, Mrs. Michael Creten, Mrs. Ellis Mowelson, William Nelson, also those who offered their cars for the service, the pallbearers and all others who in any other way assisted us.

Signed:
The Family Of
August Olsson

Balenger

Dear friends, we wish to express our sincere thanks and gratitude to each and every one who was here and to those who were unable to attend our golden wedding anniversary observance. We are grateful for the cards, gifts, messages and to those who worked so hard to make this one of the happiest days of our lives.

Storm Dumps 2 1/2 Inches Of Rain On City

Nearly two inches of rain fell in Escanaba, Friday evening, flooding basements, some shops on Ludington St., stalling traffic, and causing the injury of an elderly woman in a storm that broke a long period of drought.

The rainfall, heaviest of record in Escanaba for the date, measured 2.43 inches.

Mrs. Minnie M. Harwood, 89, of 400 S. 16th St., attempted to close a window during the storm and was injured when she fell. She told police she was at the window and believed she was shocked by lightning, causing her to fall. Police were called to the home at 7:30 p. m.

In St. Francis Hospital today her condition was reported as fair. X-ray examination was given and it is possible she may have a hip fracture.

Buildings Levelled
The storm built up slowly during the day, bringing heat and oppressive humidity that was relieved when high winds and rain roared out of the north about 7 p. m.

Lightning and wind caused some damage in Escanaba. Electric service in some areas was interrupted.

The wind was not as severe, however, as that which struck the Eustis area about three miles west of Schaffer, where the A. R. Henderson farm was badly damaged. Machinery was smashed, the silo and barn were damaged, and many trees were uprooted in the orchard. Small barns and sheds were scattered by the gale.

Joseph Gouin of 1503 N. 18th St., Escanaba, Soo Line section foreman, said that about one mile from Eustis a tornado touched down along the Soo Line track. The track was covered with trees that had to be removed, causing a delay in Train No. 15 of about a half-hour.

Lightning struck and destroyed a barn at the Fred Mott farm near Eustis at the height of the storm.

Home Damaged
A Danforth the Raymond LaMarche home was badly damaged when it was struck by lightning. The family was away and returned about 9:05 to find the wiring burned out, several windows broken by the blast of lightning, a portion of one wall opened, debris scattered about the rooms and a fire smoldering in the basement.

The loss is covered by insurance and the family felt fortunate in not being present when the bolt hit their home.

In Escanaba's downtown section — and elsewhere about the city — storm sewers were inadequate to handle the deluge of water. Some basements were flooded, other shops shoveled water out through the front door, and city electrical department, gas and sewer servicemen were on duty throughout the night.

Traffic moved through lake-like intersections in many places. At the C&NW overpass on N. 21st a car driven by Jon J. Bellefeuille of Gladstone, Rte. 1 stalled on the water-filled highway at 8 p. m.

Cars Collide
His car was struck in the rear by an auto driven by Walter G. Battershaw, 2723 Lake Shore Drive, who was ticketed by Escanaba police for driving too fast for conditions.

Water that came flooding through the back yard at the home of Mrs. John Duojanen, 110 S. 5th St., washed top soil away and ran like a river from the alley into the basement.

William Van Effen, superintendent of the city's electric department, said the city crews were continuing to work today and that all service has been restored. There was only one report of a wire being down, that at 18th Ave. S. and 23rd St.

The storm blew itself out slowly and was followed by lower temperatures and fair skies today. There was less rain at Gladstone than fell at Escanaba and no flooding problem there.

Garden Peninsula

Family Reunion
Mrs. Julia Eggert of Gladstone was honored at a family reunion at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Ossie Hazen recently. Present at the get-together were: Mrs. Emily Shauskey, Spruce, Mich.; Mr. and Mrs. Robert McEvoy and six children, Dearborn; Mrs. Milton Bergman, Lansing; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Spehar and two sons, Lakewood, Calif.; Mr. and Mrs. James Harvey and daughter, Waukegan; Mr. and Mrs. Kent Peterson and three children, Negaunee; Mr. and Mrs. Shirley Warner and daughter, Gladstone; Mr. and Mrs. Milton Hazen and four children, and Mrs. Doris Forhart and five children, Garden. Mrs. Eggert, who will celebrate her 85th birthday in November met six of her 13 great-grandchildren for the first time at the reunion. Thirteen grandchildren and 20 great grandchildren were present. Mrs. James Callender, a granddaughter, and her three children of Bellevue, Mich., were unable to attend.

Schools In Snarl
Mrs. Johnson said that "a well-organized group of teenagers" was behind the riot but that they were not an official organization of any kind. She said she was certain that neither the Black Muslims nor any other Negro nationalist group instigated the outburst.

The Black Muslims have been active in Rochester in recent years.

The city also has run into legal snarls in efforts to eliminate racial imbalances in its public school system. But the dispute has been confined largely to the courts, and there have been no significant demonstrations — such as picketing — by minority groups.

Mobs Loot Store
Police reported white teenagers and a few adults came to their rescue this morning when they were menaced by a large group of Negro rioters.

An officer said that, as the Negroes converged on him and two other officers, a larger band of whites appeared suddenly and intervened. The Negroes backed off without a direct clash, he said.

During the rioting, mobs smashed windows in dozens of stores and looters carried off television sets, furniture, household appliances and liquor, witnesses said.

Many of the looters cut themselves while breaking windows. Sidewalks were spattered with their blood.

Looters were active as far as a mile and a half away from the riot scene.

THE CANALS of Venice had nothing except a little more water than the streets of Escanaba Friday evening. The scene at Ludington and 19th St. was typical of many street intersections in Escanaba at the height of the flooding. There was only one minor traffic accident, however.

Five Constable Candidates File At Ford River

The big contest in Ford River Township will be the five-way race for constable. The five candidates for the office, one of whom will be elected Sept. 1, are:

Daniel C. Wellman, Bark River Rte. 1; Dayton Dittich, Bark River Rte. 1; H. H. Mueller, Escanaba Rte. 1; Harry Langrange, Escanaba Rte. 1; Raymond C. Hansen, Escanaba Rte. 1.

The incumbent constable Manfred Magnuson has resigned and is moving to the City of Escanaba.

Lawrence Fenlon is retiring as township trustee after expiration of his term and Jerome Stannard, Bark River Rte. 1, has filed as a candidate for the office.

Incumbents who have filed nominating petitions are Phil A. Miron, supervisor; Clarence Nordquist, clerk; Clarence Dittich, treasurer.

Longest Bridge Split By Barge On Pontchartrain

NEW ORLEANS (AP) — The world's longest bridge — the 24-mile-long Lake Pontchartrain causeway — was split by a barge early today.

No injuries were reported. State police said three sections of the causeway were knocked down, creating a gap of about 300 feet. The causeway stands about 20 feet above the lake. It resembles a highway on stilts.

Barges pushed by a tug rammed the causeway last June 16, knocking down two sections. In the June 16 accident a Trailways bus was tumbled into the water. Of the eight aboard, six drowned.

McMillan

Pink And Blue Shower
Mrs. Al Crawford was guest of honor at a Pink and Blue Shower held Tuesday evening at the Columbus Township Hall. Co-hostesses were, Mrs. Bernice Anderson, Mrs. Audrey Sanborn and Mrs. Joanne Couturier. A delicious lunch was served. Mrs. Crawford was the recipient of many nice gifts. There were 37 guests attending from McMillan, Lakewood, Newberry, Seney, Winnipeg, Ontario, Waukegan, Ill., Belleville and Muskegon.

Miss Jane Kirby and Miss Anne Barney left Thursday evening for their home in Muskegon after spending the past several days here visiting their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kirby and Mrs. Clara Barney. Mrs. Frank Kirby accompanied the girls home.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay M. Tanner left Wednesday morning for Oscoda to visit with his sister, Mrs. Maude Tanner, also Mrs. Luella Cebelak and girls.

Mrs. Loretta McLaren and family of Belleville are visiting with relatives, Mrs. Evelyn Williams and family, also Mr. and Mrs. John McLaren and boys.

Hospital
Mrs. Clyde Harkness and Mrs. Nels Maddox motored to Petoskey Tuesday where they had checkups at the Little Traverse Hospital.

Mrs. Gretta Snyder was admitted to the Tahquamenon General Hospital in Newberry on Tuesday morning.

Perry Mark was admitted to the Tahquamenon General Hospital in Newberry on Wednesday morning.

Building Plans Made At U.M.

By A. F. MAHAN
Associated Press Writer

ANN ARBOR (AP) — A $103 million, five-year building program was approved Friday by the University of Michigan Board of Regents, who voted to ask the state for $14.2 million of the money in the 1965-66 school year.

The $14.2 million is more than twice the $5.7 million voted by the legislature for the university's capital outlay program this year.

The building program, which includes renovations and additions to many existing structures, would cost in round figures $25.4 million in 1966-67; $24.2 million in 1967-68; $21.0 million in 1968-69, and $18.0 million in 1969-70.

The costliest projects would be an engineering classroom and office building and an engineering laboratory and office building, each requiring $9.25 million.

An $8.1 million medical science building and a $6.3 dentistry school building also are in the program. So is a $1.75 million classroom and office building for the Flint campus.

Dr. A. Geoffrey Norman was promoted from professor of botany and director of the university's botanical gardens to vice president for research in another action as the regents wound up their meetings for the current school year.

Dr. Norman, a 59-year-old native of Birmingham, England, succeeds Dr. Ralph W. Sawyer, who is retiring as vice president for research and dean of the graduate school. A successor has not been chosen for the latter office.

The regents voted to accept $522,248 in gifts and grants, the largest being an $80,000 gift from General Motors Corp. to the institute of industrial health and the so-called Memorial-Phoenix Project, devoted to developing peacetime uses of atomic energy.

The Charles Stewart Mott Foundation of Flint gave $72,860 and the Herbert H. and Grace A. Dow Foundation of Midland $50,000.

Establishment of two endowment funds also was approved. One of $180,000 was provided in the will of the late Dr. Robert E. Motley of Arlington, Va., to be used for scholarships for needy students, and one of $70,000 in the will of the late Mrs. Stuart G. Bailes of Grosse Pointe, a former regent, who did not specify a specific use.

Ensign 4-H Club Holds Work Bee

ENSIGN — Ten members of the Ensigners 4-H Club met recently at the Ensign Township Hall for a landscaping work session. Flower beds were weeded, grass cut and trimmed and a general cleanup was made of the area.

Mrs. Hjalmar Nelson has donated some vines for planting at the hall's grounds. Anyone else in the Ensign area having plants or shrubs they wish to donate for the club's landscaping project may contact Stanley Dominick, project advisor.

Ensign members assisting in the work session were: Jane Ann LaCrosse, Sue Sundberg, Darryl Lindquist, Judy Holmgren, Christina Dominick, Clint Safford, Jean Panick, Dan Safford, Don Dominick, and Tom Safford.

Old Building Being Razed

By MRS. I. R. NELSON

BARK RIVER — Mr. and Mrs. Robert Adams of Milwaukee, formerly of Daggett, purchased Ede's Cafe from the Gordon Beacums May 1. Now progress is taking its toll. An old building at the back of the property adjacent to the Bark River Community Hall and Fire Department is being razed by Adams to permit more parking space.

The building originally about 12 by 12 feet was built about 1890 by William Loeffler for use as a postoffice during 1890 and 1891 and was located on the corner where Dr. Bash's home is. A six foot addition was built to it, probably in 1904 as newspapers used between the walls for insulation were dated 1903. The address label read "Mrs. Francis Loeffler, Bark River, Mich."

One of the papers was the Escanaba Mirror, the date was not visible but was estimated to be in the fall of 1903. The issue reported the discovery of a stolen Escanaba Post Office safe. The safe was found near Mud Lake by two 15-year-old Escanaba boys.

Another interesting article stated that "George King, section foreman, was ordered by D. Mooney, roadmaster for the C&NW Railroad, to reduce his working force to one man and to reduce working from 10 hours a day to nine hours and also lower the wages from $1.50 per day to $1.35."

The other papers were the Chicago Record Herald and the date line reads: Wednesday morning, November 18, 1903—price two cents. A portion of this paper contains a front page feature story by William E. Curtis, special correspondent, concerning a tiny image of the Virgin of Atocha of Spain. "The little image of the Mother of God, rudely carved in wood and black with age is said to have been carved by St. Luke."

Headlines testify there were political scandals then as now: "Chief Of Sanitary Force is Deposed," "Slush Fund" charges, "Aldermen Began Work for Peace" in cable car strike and "Labor Men in Uproar." An interesting ad was that of Pitkin & Brooks, corner of State and Lake advertising a 112 piece French China dinner set for $25.00.

The old building has had long and varied uses, doctors and dentists office, grocery store, insurance office and has been moved several times, the last time in the early '50's.

Mr. and Mrs. Adams have two sons, Wayne and Darwin. Mrs. Adams has had nine years experience in the restaurant work and is a sister of Loren Aderman.
